“Comedy Corner”

“You are only as old as you feel.” Ever look in the mirror? Ah, there’s a new wrinkle and your face now resembles a Louisiana road map, muscles are disappearing and skin is hanging and rolling. You lost your teeth and soon you’ll lose your body, and then, lose your mind! Nothing is the same as it once was years prior and now you begin to feel old. Society itself, in a roundabout way, makes you feel old. Hallelujah!

Signs appear in eating places giving you a discount if you’re a certain age. Trash mail consists mostly of hearing aids and funeral plans. Commercials on television present class action lawsuits on anything you may have once had or now have. You get a dollar and a half and the lawyer gets a new BMW. Hallelujah!

As age continues, you actually look forward to “stopping and smelling the roses.” For those of us that are still somewhat normal (whatever the H!&^ that means,) money doesn’t seem to matter much and you actually love someone for all the right reasons! You can now sleep as long as you wish and not worry about some psychologist asking something stupid like, “Are you depressed?” You can talk to yourself out in public, or scratch your butt on the street corner and no one pays much attention. In some states you can fish all day and pee in the lake and not get fined. Yessir, old age has its advantages.

You have forgotten your list and walk out of the grocery store with three small bags. You walk home, a couple of blocks away, get home and about an hour later walk outside and notice your car is not in the driveway. Some idiot has stolen your old beat-up jalopy! About the time you dial the cops you remember your vehicle is in the grocery store parking lot. No longer are you merely losing your keys anymore, now you’re losing your mind! Hallelujah!

Everything changes as you get older. That little island you once planned on retiring and settling on is now covered up with three million people and a hundred condos! That new truck you bought for eight thousand dollars is now forty thousand dollars! Your children’s children now have children. You have a conversation with your pet and your pet gets up, walks to another room, lies back down and goes to sleep. It’s getting older also. Hallelujah!

You can now play your stereo as loud as you wish because chances are you can’t hear it anyway. You search around the house, moving everything, trying to find that “chattering cricket” only to find out later that noise is in your ear! You move your arm the wrong way and your shoulder “goes out”. You move your leg the wrong way and you fall on your face. Vertigo has now become the norm! “Ah” I think I’ll go back to bed –Good Night! Hallelujah!

“The Cavern”

Chapter 14

D. Gesn©2014

It puts a person in an awkward position to discover something that but a few people know about. He or she gains new “friends” that at times don not seem to know when it’s time to go home! The phone rings off the wall on a constant basis. Yet, I love it. It’s almost as good as when I worked in the oilfield. Pretty much every weekend you couldn’t have stirred ‘em with a stick! The one big difference is that there is no wealth to be spread out- not yet. Well,

Gold that has not been awakened in only God knows how long. I figured another way to get it out, but getting to it would be the major quest. You can’t drive to it, and helicopter wouldn’t be helpful, unless one had a “D-9 Cat” to clear out a good area. Course, getting a “D-9 Cat” up there would be a feat in itself! The Feds might have something to say about it. Silver and other commodities would not be an extreme to carry out – say fifty or so pieces at a time.

Snakes are a hindrance at different intervals. Copperheads and rattlers love that shade and rock going up to the entrance. Course, it’s been written that copperheads only get about a couple of feet in length – wanna bet?

Rattlers can resemble a motorcycle tire when coiled, and there are definitely some whoppers up there! Back home around the Bellevue area, several years ago, a rattler was killed and came in at nine feet, three and half inches long. It had sixty-four rattles and a button. One huge snake! I haven’t seen that big of one here, but did get one that measured a little over six foot. He had twenty-two rattles and a button. It was a timber rattler and the meat was pretty tasty. I didn’t really want to kill him, but he had me in a bad spot and I had no choice, - him or me!

Sitting on a stump, taking a break and lo’ and behold a cub bear walks about fifteen yards up from me. “Mama” walked me out and about. She stayed behind me pretty good while, but about ten yards behind me all the way. Well, I needed the exercise anyway, so we had a good walk. Didn’t see a lot of deer that day – wonder why? “Duh”!!!

I always enjoyed a good adventure, seemed the more dangerous it was the better it was. Kinda’ stupid, don’t you think? Climbing up a straight wall of rock some 300 feet high without the right rope, or grabbing the back of a neck of a copperhead thinking it was a gopher snake – well they do look alike! How about catching a fourteen foot alligator and trying to tape up his mouth? It’s definitely not for everybody! Hey you only go around once, might as well make the best of it!

Compromise is always a matter of principle. Adventure for me today, is a matter of such- I’m getting older, wiser and more decrepit. I often compromise getting out of bed in the morning. I am planning on returning to the cavern one of these days. I’m merely compromising the right time zone. Those bats better get their act together, even though there are no bats in or around the cave. It is a matter of principle – I don’t want to go to jail!

Let’s see now - gold is about a thousand an ounce or more, give or take a few dollars. I’m not a greedy person so three hundred pounds ought to be enough. “Ah”, just kiddin’! Well, I couldn’t corner the market on the silver trade but could make a dent in it. The one problem I can foresee is that I do all the work and Uncle

Sam gets all the profit! Sure doesn’t seem fair to me, but sure would be an adventure!

How this ol’ cavern stayed such a secret for so long a time is sure a wonder to me and the others. There are some other caves out and about that few know about, but not completely of the same interest. All the geologists I’ve conversed with say no volcanoes were ever present in this area. Makes one wonder why an Indian or anyone else would trade something for some lava rock – maybe something to keep warm with on a frigid night – maybe.....

Rain Garden Workshop at Winslow Library

The recent Rain Garden Workshop at the Winslow Library on May 23 was enthusiastically received, with nine folks in the audience. It was arranged by Winslow librarian and Master Gardener Jean Cosgrove.

It was conducted by Jane Bryant and Jan Hayes, with Carolyn Griffith and Marilyn Harnish on the panel, all of whom are Master Gardeners from West Fork. Jane Bryant showed visuals of the West Fork rain gardens at their library and recycling center. She and her West Fork associates answered questions about how to do community as well as home rain gardens, and had materials to hand out.

They discussed the reason for rain gardens: to prevent erosion, to filter water before it reaches our source of water (for our region, the Beaver Lake Watershed) , and to save water for our use (on gardens, etc.).

At the conclusion of the meeting, Donna Phipps Stout led a tour of the recently completed Winslow Rain Garden at the Jarnagan Ball Field, on the north end of the Pavilion. It was the result of a grant from the Beaver Watershed Alliance, and was designed by Becky Roark of the Illinois River Watershed Alliance. It was dug and planted with the aid of Winslow 4H’ers and several Winslow residents. John Pennington and Courtney Thomas of the Beaver Watershed Alliance were also in attendance.

While Dal recovers from an injury they follow leads to hunt down a stash of stolen diamonds lost when they were hidden and never recovered. Jesse and Dal continue their wild and crazy love affair between kidnappings and the discovery of two bodies near the old abandoned fusion plant. It's a creepy place to get locked up in, but Jesse manages to do just that. This follows the first of the series, The Purloined Skull. Coming in May 2016, The Pit and The Penance.

This series was conceived while I worked for nine years on a rural weekly newspaper. Many of the characters and situations are based on real events during that time. I've set the story in fictional Grace county in Arkansas but readers will see many places that really exist.

Writing these books is the most fun I've ever had. I feel like I'm once again working at that newspaper where I had such a wonderful time. The experiences are with me still, and it's hard to believe they paid me for what I did, it was so much fun.

I think readers can learn a lot about the Ozarks and the people who live there by reading these books.

Winslow Community Center Association Update

May was a busy month for the WCCA. Meetings continue with officials on finalizing the various hoops we must jump through to purchase the school buildings and property. The Greenland School District is in the process of doing the required title searches and getting an appraisal of the value of the property. This is more difficult than you might imagine because the school grounds actually occupy a number of sections from a variety of years past and there is really no property comparable for an accurate appraisal.

The FUNdraiser at the ballpark was a huge success adding nicely to the coffers and bringing us closer to our goal of $6,000 needed for closing costs and liability insurance. Our gratitude to Mayor Randy and the City of Winslow for allowing us to host the event at the ballpark stadium. Many thanks to the volunteers who gave of their time. And especially thanks to the Slowtowne Serenaders, Sonic Katz & Mandy Lee and Jesse Dean & Left of Center for providing great music and great inspiration to that fundraising effort. And, of course, thanks to everyone who came out and gave so generously. Proof that there will be no Winslow Community Center without the COMMUNITY.

Next up on the agenda is our Pie Auction and Silent Auction on June 13th at 6 PM at the Brentwood Community Center. Again, all proceeds for the event will go to the Winslow Community Center Association. We're expecting a whole lot of homemade pies that evening from all the great cooks of Winslow. Auctioneer James Mason will be handling the Pie Auction.

The Silent Auction will feature useful items and gift certificates from local merchants and service providers. I hope to have a complete list of items on our Facebook page by the 6th of June.

BBQ supper will also be available starting at 6 PM. Bring an appetite and bring your wallet. Don't leave without a pie or two! Let's make this fundraiser even more successful than the last one!

As we enter the hot, humid, hazy days of summer (and hopefully a dry spell or two) the cogs of progress will continue to move along.

Don't forget to share the gofundme site as well as our Facebook page with all your friends and family! Have a great June. Happy SUMMER!!!

YOU THINK ABOUT THAT

By Wesley Wood

Christian is just a name people classify themselves as so they can belong to whatever Christian social club that fits their fancy. Christian means "Christ Like" or "Like Christ" but no one has been literally practicing his teaching for the last 400 + years. If they had the Civil War would have never happened. Christians owned slaves and they weren't about to give them up even though they knew Christ taught it was sinful. They just pushed that part aside, didn't want to mess up their social status in their Christian social clubs. And so today we are having this discussion about same sex marriage. The Christians, in their Christian social clubs, know that it is sinful are not going to come out with the force needed to stop it. They still don't want to mess up their social status in their Christian social clubs. Sadly, there is a good percentage of these Christian social clubs have chosen to believe it is sinful to get involved in any kind of political arena. Great Cop Out huh? I've heard this one all my life too, "Lord's gonna come get us outta this mess". Yeah, another great cop out. Jesus said, John 14:15:" If ye love me, keep my commandments". He also teaches it is your duty to know those commandments. I'm Wesley Wood, YOU THINK ABOUT THAT!

The clock of life is wound but once,
And no man has the power
To tell just when the hands will stop
At late or early hour.
Now is the only time you own.
Live, love, toil with a will.
Place no faith in time.
For the clock may soon be still.

The Prayer

Sent to me online and I thought it to be very touching.

There is something wonderful about people praying for you. We're not getting older, just getting closer to home! This prayer is powerful, and prayer is one of the best gifts We receive. There is no cost but a lot of rewards. Let's always pray for one another.

The prayer:

Father,
Thank You for each and every day You have blessed us here on earth.
Thank You for Your tender mercies.
Thank You for giving us friends and family to share joys and sorrows with.
I ask You to bless my friends, relatives, brothers and sisters in Christ and those I care deeply for, who are reading this right now.
Where there is joy, give them continued joy;
Where there is pain or sorrow, give them your peace and mercy.
Where there is self-doubt, release a renewed confidence.
Where there is need, fulfill their needs.
Bless their homes, families, finances, their goings and their comings.
In Jesus' name,
Amen.

PASTOR'S BUSINESS CARD:

A new pastor was visiting in the homes of his parishioners. At one house it seemed obvious that someone was at home, but no answer came to his Repeated knocks at the door.

Therefore, he took out a business card and wrote 'Revelation 3:20' on the Back of it and stuck it in the door.

When the offering was processed the following Sunday, he found that his card had been returned. Added to it was this cryptic message, 'Genesis 3:10..'

Reaching for his Bible to check out the citation, he broke up in gales of laughter. Revelation 3:20 begins 'Behold, I stand at the door and knock.'

Genesis 3:10 reads, 'I heard your voice in the garden and I was afraid for I was naked.'

Remember when the funniest jokes were the clean ones? They still are! Pass it on
'A cheerful heart is good medicine' (Prov. 17:22)
