Winslow Extension Homemakers News

The 20th through the 27th of August was a busy week for the Winslow Extension Homemaker's Club at the Washington County Fair. Saturday, the 20th was check-in day for the exhibits. One of our people worked that day from 8:30 AM until 4:00 PM. Two of our people worked on Sunday and Monday judging exhibits. Monday was the big day for judging the exhibits and the day lunch was served. Two of our women helped to prepare and serve the food and drinks to the judges and workers. Our busiest day was Saturday working the Scholarship Country Store booth and walking security from 10:00 AM until 6:00 PM. Seven of our people split that time up 10:00 – 2:00 and 2:00 – 6:00.

The Scholarship Country Store Booth raises money to provide yearly scholarships to college students studying in various fields relating to Farming, Agriculture, Horticulture, Consumer Science, Management, etc.

The members of the eleven EH clubs and six Project Clubs in Washington County make things during the year to sell at this booth.

The Washington County Fair is only one of the projects the Extension Homemakers' Clubs participate in throughout the year. Velda's Words

By Velda Brotherton

I've stumbled through the past few months doing my best to keep up with all the changes taking place online and in my new computer.

I finally have a new book scheduled to be released September 23. The title is Texas Lightning, next in Dusty's series, the Texas Badge. Two more are finished in that series and will be out next year.

Working on the first of my new series about a lady bounty hunter. I introduced Rose in one of Dusty's Texas Badge series. Am enjoying writing westerns. Makes me feel like I'm riding again after all these years. I still miss Katie, my long legged Tennessee Walker I bought from the Prestons. She was a joy and we covered a lot of miles out here in the wilds. Now I only ride in my stories.

I'm having a contest for the title. Rose is a bounty hunter who works in Indian Territory and takes down outlaws. Once she carried the head of a Comanche Indian in a tow sack and presented it to Judge Parker's court house to collect her bounty.

Don't forget to pick up a copy of The Blue Roan Colt, one I finished for Dusty after he passed away. I know you'll enjoy it. Soon in the near future my books will be available in audio so keep an eye out if you enjoy that style.

More good news. I'm getting some copies of Lost in the Ozarks which haven't been available for some time. I've located some of the original ones and will announce when I have them for anyone who wants a copy. Let me know if you want one and I'll hang on to it for you as soon as they come. There won't be many.

Have a cool September and find some good books to read.

Need that title soon so if anyone has an idea let me know. The winner gets a free copy of the book, so do some head scratching. It'd be fun if a Winslow resident won.

Nothing much else going on during this long hot spell. I love summer but come on, it's hard to enjoy a summer this hot and humid.

Ninety Years on top of the Boston Mountains with Sky-Vue Lodge

Sky-Vue Lodge has been a part of the Winslow community for the past 90 years. The first buildings were built in 1932 by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jones as a tourist court and gas station. The second owners of Sky-Vue were related to the late Bobby Jo Center by marriage. One of the more well known owners were the third family who bought Sky-Vue in 1939, Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Winters. It was during the Winters' ownership that Sky-Vue's main lodge was expanded from a basic one or two room log cabin to the approximate size it is today. The property also boasted "14 modern cottages" during that time period. Briefly, in the mid to late 1950's, Sky-Vue had a climbing tower atop the roof of the main dining room that stood approximately 35 or 40 feet tall.

In 1962, Ret. Col. Loren and Lillian Buttolph purchased Sky-Vue. By that time it consisted of about 10 remaining cabins and the Lodge. The Colonel was best known for his love of gardening. Many of the perennial plants and bushes that enhance the natural beauty of Sky-Vue were planted and nurtured by the Buttolphs.

Many old-timers remember working at Sky-Vue either for the Winters or for the Buttolphs. One of the Colonel's son-in-laws told Glenn that he believed, "a good coat of paint covered a multitude of sins!" Other fond memories include a puppy barn where they raised Norwegian Wolf Hounds. There was a pond with ducks and peacocks wandered the property for several years.

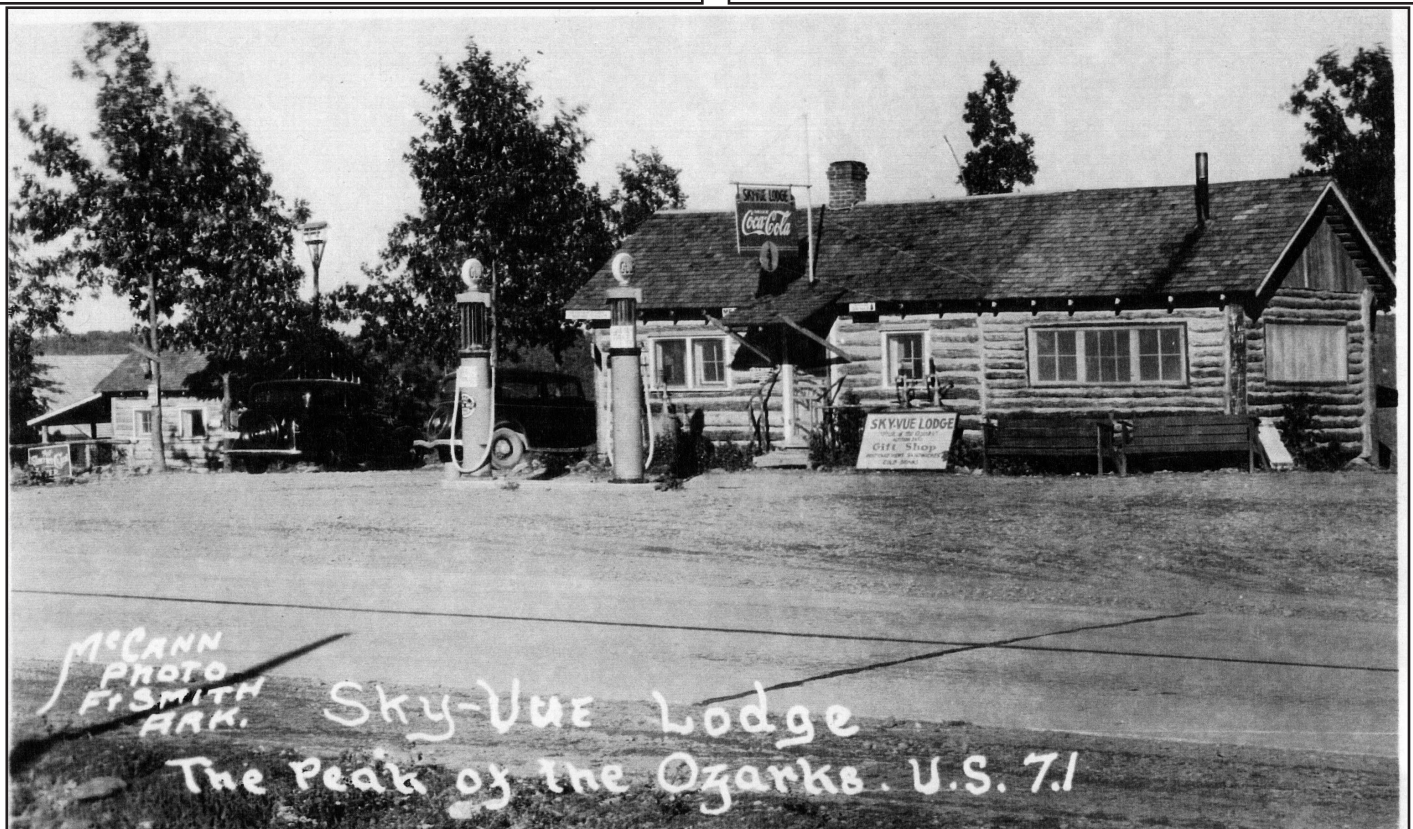

Over the years many of the owners ran the lodge as a restaurant. In about 1969 or '70 the main building was nearly lost to a fire in the gift shop. The Boston Mountain Fire Department responded quickly and saved the building, resulting in very little structural damage, and fortunately, the Lodge was preserved, but it never reopened as a restaurant. Jack Stockburger once told Glenn Jorgenson that Sky-Vue was one of the first buildings the fire department saved using the "fogging" technique rather than just pure water pressure and volume.

The Buttolphs sold the business in 1985 to two brothers from Alaska. They razed two more of the remaining cabins and built the 4500 square foot building, which is now the Conference Building in their place. However, during the savings and loan crisis of 1988, they lost part of their financing and had to turn the property back over to the Colonel's estate. Dick Buttolph and wife, Betty, executors of the estate, put the business back together after the brothers left, and began running it for the first time as a bed and breakfast in 1990.

In November of 1993, current owners, Glenn and Janice Jorgenson visited from Colorado, where Glenn was working at a guest ranch, and Janice was teaching school. Janice's brother and sister-in-law, who was a granddaughter to the Colonel and Lillian, accompanied them. Glenn and Janice went home, made an offer, put their house on the market in January, and sold it in 2 weeks. Glenn headed to Arkansas alone in April of 1994 and Janice stayed in Colorado for 6 more weeks to fulfill her teaching contract, finally joining Glenn in Winslow on June 2nd of that year.

Sky-Vue has undergone some major changes since 1994. Most of the remaining original 7 cabins have been remodeled from the ground up. In 1999, the Conference Building, which had never been finished, was remodeled and the upper floor was finished. Between 1999 and 2001, a 1000 square foot meeting room and 2 lodge rooms were finished. Between 2001 and 2005, 3 more lodge rooms were completed to accommodate a growing retreat business. In 2004, there was a major remodel of the lodge dining room. In 2011, with a growing family, the north half of the main lodge was razed inside the rockwork, and the two story portion for managers quarters was added to give it the look it has today.

We invite you to celebrate with us for the remainder of 2022. Follow Sky-View Lodge Bed and Breakfast or Sky-View Pizza and Gifts on Facebook for weekly trivia, historic photos, stories from guests and former employees, and giveaways. The first week's winner received a delicious plate of Janice's well know cinnamon rolls. We hope to see you soon on top of the Boston Mountains!
Your hosts,
Glenn and Janice Jorgenson

THE CHURCH Occupy Until I Come

Luke 19:13
And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, "Occupy till I come". He didn't say, stand around looking up in the sky claiming The lord's gonna come and get us out of here. He said work, keep this place going. Keep my kingdom in tack. Do what's necessary to keep what I have taught you in the fore front of society and be productive. Get positive results. Don't stand around your favorite soda fountain and talk about it all day. Fleming Island High School, Fleming Island, Florida has pornographic books for children to read without parental knowledge. One man shows up at a school board meeting to condemn this and the board would not allow him to speak. One man, Just One Man and I really want to scream this because it just blows my mind. WHERE IS THE CHURCH? There should have been at least a thousand Church members at that meeting. Oh, let's see, Pastors, Church leaders, can't speak about such things and demand their members be at that board meeting due to this 501c3 Nonprofit Tax Status and they're "afraid" they might hurt the members feelings and they won't come back. They just can't risk losing all that money. It's more important than our children being indoctrinated with this demonic evil. Jesus said, suffer little children to come unto me for such is the Kingdom of Heaven. Shameful. If you think God is happy about what the Church is doing about this; No, He Is Not. Here are two videos describing the disgusting things they are promoting on our children providing YouTube hasn't censored them.

I believe there will be a "Judgment" day. I believe you and I will be there to answer for "Our" own personal actions. I'm Wesley Wood, YOU THINK ABOUT THAT!
