Winslow's Annual 4th of July Celebration Best in the Countryside

What: 4th of July Festivities and Fireworks
When: July 4th, 2016 Beginning about 5:00 PM
Where: Winslow Ball Park across from the Fire Station and next door to Mikey's One Stop

We've lost count of which Annual 4th of July Celebration this is, but we do know the fireworks are some of the best around. And since so many places are discontinuing this HOLIDAY favorite it's one of the few in the area.

The Friends of the Winslow Library will provide BINGO with lots of prizes for all age groups. They will also have lots of cookies to satisfy your sweet tooth for a very reasonable price.

Winslow Community Meals do a great job turning out Hamburgers, Hot Dogs, and Nachos with all the trimmings you would want on them. They will also have lots of sodas and water to quench that warm weather thirst and keep that whistle wet.

The Kid's Activities are great fun for them and just as much fun for the parents and grandparents to watch.

Don't sit home and be lonely this 4th of July, Come on out and enjoy it with all your friends and neighbors!

1st Annual Winslow History Day A Big Success!

The last Saturday in June 2016 was another milestone for the Winslow Museum. Winslow History Day was a BIG SUCCESS! The first skit presented was a very short reenactment of a meeting of the 1925 – 1927 Petticoat Government. "They were tired of seeing Mr. Turner roll down West Mountain and made the decision to put in a switchback for easier driving up the mountain. In order to finance it they decided to do away with the jail." It was a very short skit but really cute.

Along the sidewalk in front of City Hall, the Museum, and the Mercantile we had an old time Medicine Show with a Fire Tonic that would take your breath away, a Candle maker with both paraffin and beeswax candle taper, a Bee Man with different types of bee products from Honey to Body and Massage lotion to Lip salve. The Museum had a table with T-shirts commemorating this event, books about the area from local authors, pictures, note cards and other memorabilia. One of the Cowboys with the Lawbreakers and Peacemakers had a display of what the old-time cowboys carried in their saddle bags and how it was arranged on the saddle. A history lesson in a glass case made interesting.

The Lawbreakers and Peacemakers reenactment group from Van Buren provided entertainment from 10:00 AM until 3:00 PM with one show after another in City Park. The main attraction was the arrest of Pearl Starr followed by the train robbery on Winslow Blvd. "Belle Starr" narrated a short history and later was shot down in another skit in front of City Hall. If you ever get the chance to watch this group, go for it. They are great!

By 3:00 all the organizers and volunteers were more than ready to kick back and put up their feet, but all in all it was a wonderful day.

Winslow Community Meals Fund Raiser!

Winslow Community Meals will be serving hamburgers, hot dogs, and nachos on the 4th of July for the Annual Winslow 4th of July Festivities at Winslow Ball Park. They will serve from 5:00 PM until the fireworks begin.

WCM received a donation of food from Harp's, Walmart, and Ozark Natural Foods, which was greatly appreciated.

The Community has always supported the Meals program and its people have made the difference. This 4th of July Eva and Joe Geszvain will join the other volunteers to help Meals celebrate our National Holiday.

Shirley Nesbitt has rejoined the WCM Board of Directors and will be on hand to join in the festivities as she has for many years.

WCM runs on volunteer help. If you have a few hours a week or even a month consider volunteering to help prepare meals, wash dishes, any and everything in the kitchen. Other ways to help are assisting with fund raisers or serving on the Board. If you have some experience with bookkeeping the Board of Winslow Community Meals is looking for a treasurer.

“The Cavern”

By David Gesn ©2015

Go into a dark room, sit and close your eyes. Keep them closed and become one with your thoughts; think about the past; think about what the terrain of the area of Northwestern Arkansas during the fifteen hundreds, the sixteenth century all the way up to the late 1800's, would have possibly looked like. Surely by now you have done much research concerning the lay of the land. Avoid believing the lay of the land is exactly as it once was, and that it doesn't take millions of years to change everything about landscapes in this area of concern.

Though all knowledge is at one's fingertips, understand that certain information available many not be up to date or even historically may be questionable.

Many caves connect to other tunnels of existence. The earth consists of a cobweb of such structures. Though the cavern is secretive, it would have had to been an existence accessible to certain individuals that would travel by horseback or wagon. One entrance might have been constructed by man for easy entry, instead of depending on natural openings.

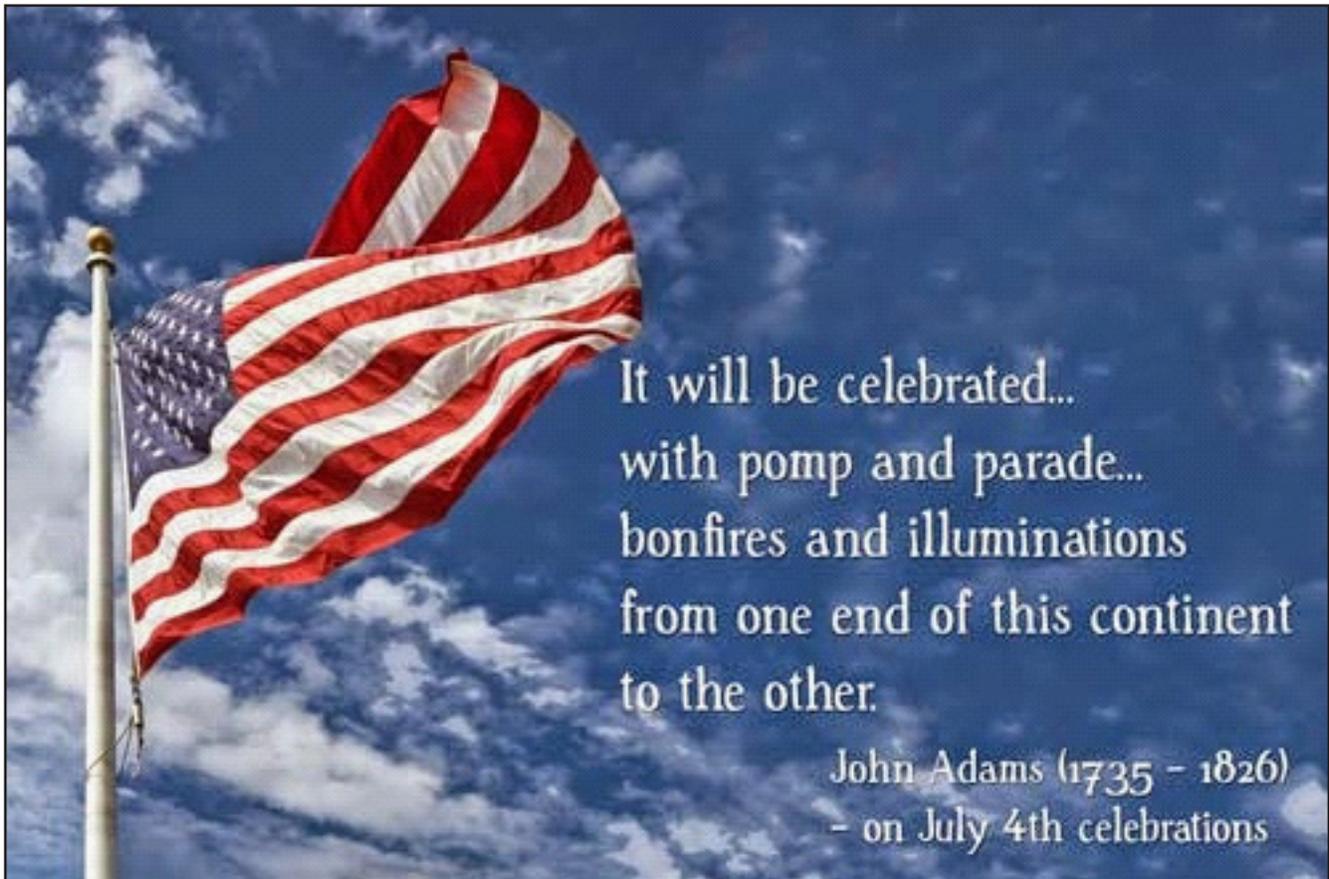

There has always been the legend of certain silver mine in Winslow. With any legend there is some truth to the tale. How much truth is anyone's guess.

The cavern is realistic but it is safe against exploitation, at this interval for no history has recorded it “as such” and no one in today's time zone has come upon it, not to my knowledge. As far as I know, no legends have been written concerning it. There is always the fact that someone has come close to the cavern's existence. Granted it may have been as close as a hundred yards or so. It may indeed be possible for the United States Government to know exactly where the Cavern is today. It is also possible that they have known about it for many, many years, and that there may indeed be a reason why they also keep the secret of its whereabouts. If someone does so come upon it in the near future it may be that they too will keep it a secret, then again – maybe not!

Let is pretend for a moment that we are traveling down beside a creek bed, on a beautiful sunshiny day. A little water trickles down the creek and we just happen to look over in the creek and something is shining so bright it's almost blinding! We go over and see what the object is and lo' and behold it's that beautiful creation referred to as “gold”. Now, do we say to ourselves, “Well, we better leave it there, because it belongs to the Federal Government, the National Forest, the County, some city nearby, or do we just pick it up and put it in our pockets and walk on? Give me a break, what would you do? That is why the Cavern is so secretive. There are interests within its existence that actually go beyond the idea of wealth. What goes today, beyond money and power? What is it that “you” cannot buy with any amount of money? “Peace of mind”, and no amount of money will ever buy that existence or feeling!

This is the last episode of the “The Cavern”. David Gesn has retired from writing full time for this newsletter due to increasing poor health. We wish him the best and hopefully his health will stabilize. Thank you David for all the articles you have provided for Within Winslow over the years. I have enjoyed working with you and will miss your dry humor and fighting spirit. You have been an inspiration to me and a good friend. Thank you. JK

First Friday Showcase: Jana Green

Friday, July 1, 6:00 pm

The First Friday Showcase will feature artist Jana Green on July 1st at 6pm, at Ozark Folkways. Jana's ethereal watercolors juxtapose commonplace elements seen from unusual perspectives with contorted figures in a surreal landscape. They challenge viewers to renew attention to the extraordinariness of our seemingly mundane surroundings and the day-to-day events which shape our life experience.

Jana describes her paintings as "impressions of moments and universal truths," and "regurgitated mysticism, expressed as a practice to access the infinite quality of being." She thinks of herself in some ways as "an alchemist mixing together ingredients and making concoctions. The results can be cathartic and healing for the artist and the viewer." Jana's work may be found online at janagreen.tumblr.com.

This event is free and open to the public (although donations to Ozark Folkways are always welcome.) For more information, just call Ozark Folkways at 479-634-3791, or email Rebecca at director@folkways.arcoxml.com

Soon To Be Gone

By Capt. Steven Ellison, MD
A Military Doctor

This should be required reading in every school and college in our country. This Captain, an Army doctor, deserves a medal himself for putting this together. If you choose not to pass it on, fine, but I think you will want to, after you read it.

I am a doctor specializing in the Emergency Departments of the only two military Level One-Trauma Centers, both in San Antonio, TX and they care for civilian Emergencies as well as military personnel. San Antonio has the largest military retiree population in the world living here. As a military doctor, I work long hours and the pay is less than glamorous. One tends to become jaded by the long hours, lack of sleep, food, family contact and the endless parade of human suffering passing before you. The arrival of another ambulance does not mean more pay, only more work. Most often, it is a victim from a motor vehicle crash.

Often it is a person of dubious character who has been shot or stabbed. With our large military retiree population, it is often a nursing home patient. Even with my enlisted service and minimal combat experience in Panama, I have caught myself groaning when the ambulance brought in yet another sick, elderly person from one of the local retirement centers that cater to military retirees. I had not stopped to think of what citizens of this age group represented.

I saw 'Saving Private Ryan.' I was touched deeply. Not so much by the carnage, but by the sacrifices of so many. I was touched most by the scene of the elderly survivor at the grave side, asking his wife if he'd been a good man. I realized that I had seen these same men and women coming through my Emergency Dept. and had not realized what magnificent sacrifices they had made. The things they did for me and everyone else that has lived on this planet since the end of that conflict are priceless.

Situation permitting, I now try to ask my patients about their experiences. They would never bring up the subject without the inquiry. I have been privileged to an amazing array of experiences, recounted in the brief minutes allowed in an Emergency Dept. encounter. These experiences have revealed the incredible individuals I have had the honor of serving in a medical capacity, many on their last admission to the hospital.

There was a frail, elderly woman who reassured my young enlisted medic, trying to start an IV line in her arm. She remained calm and poised, despite her illness and the multiple needle-sticks into her fragile veins. She was what we call a 'hard stick.' As the medic made another attempt, I noticed a number tattooed across her forearm. I touched it with one finger and looked into her eyes. She simply said, 'Auschwitz ..' Many of later generations would have loudly and openly berated the young medic in his many attempts. How different was the response from this person who'd seen unspeakable suffering.

Also, there was this long retired Colonel, who as a young officer had parachuted from his burning plane over a Pacific Island held by the Japanese. Now an octogenarian, he had a minor cut on his head from a fall at his home where he lived alone. His CT scan and suturing had been delayed until after midnight by the usual parade of high priority ambulance patients. Still spry for his age, he asked to use the phone to call a taxi, to take him home, then he realized his ambulance had brought him without his wallet. He asked if he could use the phone to make a long distance call to his daughter who lived 7 miles away. With great pride we told him that he could not, as he'd done enough for his country and the least we could do was get him a taxi home, even if we had to pay for it ourselves. My only regret was that my shift wouldn't end for several hours, and I couldn't drive him myself.

I was there the night M/Sgt Roy Benavidez came through the Emergency Dept. for the last time. He was very sick. I was not the doctor taking care of him, but I walked to his bedside and took his hand. I said nothing. He was so sick, he didn't know I was there. I'd read his Congressional Medal of Honor citation and wanted to shake his hand. He died a few days later.

The gentleman who served with Merrill's Marauders,

The survivor of the Bataan Death March,

The survivor of Omaha Beach ,

The 101 year old World War I veteran.

The former POW held in frozen North Korea

The former Special Forces medic - now with non-operable liver cancer

The former Viet Nam Corps Commander..

I may still groan when yet another ambulance comes in, but now I am much more aware of what an honor it is to serve these particular men and women.

I have seen a Congress who would turn their back on these individuals who've sacrificed so much to protect our liberty. I see later generations that seem to be totally engrossed in abusing these same liberties, won with such sacrifice.

It has become my personal endeavor to make the nurses and young enlisted medics aware of these amazing individuals when I encounter them in our Emergency Dept. Their response to these particular citizens has made me think that perhaps all is not lost in the next generation.

My experiences have solidified my belief that we are losing an incredible generation, and this nation knows not what it is losing. Our uncaring government and ungrateful civilian populace should all take note. We should all remember that we must 'Earn this.'

If it weren't for the United States Military,

There would be NO United States of America !

And now as you have finished reading this, our Congress that enjoys their free medical care are in the process of charging these people for their medical care and at the same time possibly reducing their retirement pay. A typical political "thank you."

YOU THINK ABOUT THAT

By Wesley Wood

QUESTION:

Romans 1:25 Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.

I know this is generally accepted as exposing and condemning the perversion of mankind, but didn't we just see the worshipping of the creature this past week with the mohammad ali expedition? I was offended, couldn't look at a TV screen without him being thrown in my face. I didn't capitalize the name out of my disrespect for the man. I believe he went to Hell and took more people with him than probably any other person on this earth. What about the Churches that have super bowl Sunday night. This past week the Pope saying Marriage should be for "Life" which is what Jesus taught. But now divorces are the same in the Church as outside the Church. How do you justify that without changing the word of God into a lie? I've heard people quote scripture out of context to justify their sinful actions and sooth their conscience. Changing the word of God into a lie so you can consume it upon your own lust. There will be a Judgment day and you will be there to answer for "Your" own personal actions

I'm Wesley Wood, YOU THINK ABOUT THAT! Checkout my new website www.godslastcall.net Click the link at the top and watch the videos. "I Survived A Late Term Abortion" a must see.
