Barbara Ashbaugh Retires

Barbara Ashbaugh has been a main figure in City Hall off and on all of 20 years. For the last several years she has been in the Water Dept. three days a week. She has also been very active in Winslow and Winslow History and it is mainly due to her efforts that we have the Winslow Museum.

There will be a Retirement Party for Barbara Ashbaugh on Sunday June 9, 2013 at 2:00 PM at Winslow City Hall. Everyone is invited to come out and help us thank this wonderful lady for her many years of service to the City of Winslow.

Winslow HIPPY News

We just took our yearly FREE train ride and had such a great time going through the tunnel, over the trestle while singing our favorite songs on a microphone!

For those of you that may not know what "HIPPY" is: Home Instruction for Parents of Preschool Youngsters (HIPPY) is a parent involvement, school readiness program that helps parents prepare their three, four, and five year old children for success in school and beyond. The parent is provided with a set of carefully developed curriculum, books and materials designed to strengthen their children's cognitive skills, early literacy skills, social/emotional and physical development. A trained, home-based educator meets weekly with parents to role-play lessons and support the parent's important role as their child's first teacher. This program is free for qualifying families.

My own kids participated in the HIPPY program for a total of 6 years and I can attest that it was successful in preparing them for school. Some things that stood out for our family were developing reading comprehension skills, getting into the homework habit gradually (instead of as soon as they enter Kindergarten) and listening and following my directions.

I have a few Winslow HIPPY openings for next year - we start in September and end in May - so if you are, or know of, any interested parents with children who will be ages 3-5 this fall, let me know as soon as possible. Please give me a call or text if you have any questions about this program.

“Comedy Corner”

By David Gesn ©'13

At forty-five years of age, I lost my teeth. At the age of fifty I lost my body. At sixty, I begin losing my mind. Every time I go to a doctor, they find something new with something old. My heart races faster than I can jog! My upper body now sags towards my thighs, while my arm muscles veer towards my armpits. I lost two inches in height and gained heightened weight! I don't look good naked anymore!

Methuselah was the oldest man that ever lived. He passed on at the ripe old age of 969, in the year of the great flood. Probably a good thing since he couldn't swim.

Well, you're only as old as you feel.

Not long ago a scientist proclaimed science was embarking on the idea of Americans living to be 150 years old. “Why?” At 61 I'm already a lost cause. There's very little productiveness on my part. I wonder if it's against the law to choke a scientist that really deserves it. Hallelujah!

As much as I do so love life, I'm ready for something different than this crazy mixed-up ol' world. I'm gonna' be mighty disappointed if there's nothing better on the “other side!” My great grandfather lived to be 112 years old, had twenty-eight children and outlived three wives! Imagine if he had lived to be 150 years of age, what he might have accomplished. He could have started his own city! Wonder what it must have been like to feed 28 children? Wonder if he was nuts? Hallelujah!

FREE MEAL!!!!

Did that get your attention? Saints of Christ Fellowship has a free meal every Friday at 5:30 at the Winslow Fire station.

Pastor Jim Kugel will also feed your soul at 6:00.

We are very laid back. Jesus says: "come as you are...." . We say the same thing. If you work on Sat. and Sun. but would still like to go to Church, come and join us.

A misunderstanding has happened. We do want to reach the youth of Winslow but we are here for everyone.

We are here for the ones that don't like the traditional church setting. We are here for the ones that have been hurt by the church. We are here for every one. If you can't go to church on Wed. because of different reasons, you can come to our meeting on Fridays and your church on Sunday. We have lots of great churches in this community. If you don't come visit us, please visit one of those on Sunday.

We are very non traditional.
Come and check us out!!!

Book Review

The Winslow Library has two new arrivals, "Tomorrow There Will Be Apricots" in both hard cover and audio book.

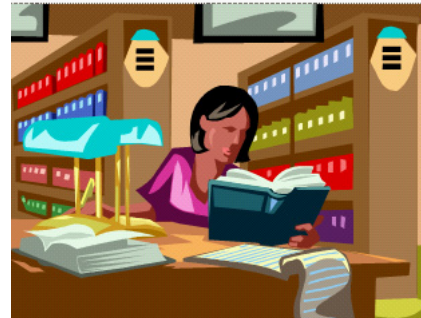

The author Jessica Soffer tells a story about accepting family and friends. The main character, Lorca, is obsessed with finding recipes for her mother, especially a Middle Eastern dish called "masgouf." The other leading character is Victoria, who runs a restaurant and is coping with the death of her husband. When she decides to teach cooking lessons, Lorca shows up and a friendship begins, based on loss and self-discovery.

The second arrival is the DVD of a popular novel, "The Perks of Being a Wallflower" by Stephen Chbosky. If you enjoyed the book, you will especially enjoy the movie. It was listed as one of the best in 2012.

The library has traditional books and audiobooks on compact disk, as well as an impressive DVD collection. If you can't find what you're looking for the staff can order it for you from any library in the Washington Co. Library System, or you can go online at www.wcls.lib.ar.us and order it yourself. If you need instructions to do that stop by and we will be glad to help you.

Divide and Conquer Household Chores

Have a family plan for everyday household tasks and you'll teach your kids a great life lesson.

WebMD Feature

By Annie Stuart

Reviewed By Roy Benaroch, MD

Doing chores is a tradition in many families. Chores help kids learn responsibility, and sharing chores gives you help around the house.

Not sure your kids will go for it? Take heart! There are ways to make chores a little bit, well, less of a chore for everyone.

The Value of Chores for Children

Parenting expert Jim Fay, cofounder of the Love and Logic website, says we all need to feel needed and to know that we're making a contribution -- even kids. "But they can't feel that way if they don't have chores and make contributions to the family," Fay says.

Roger W. McIntire, University of Maryland psychology professor and author of Raising Good Kids in Tough Times, says, "A child has to have some responsibilities."

That may all sound fine, but how do you get your kids onboard?

Pitfalls to Avoid When it Comes to Chores

Don't insist on perfection. No one is perfect, and it's better to have a more relaxed approach to how well your kids do their chores. Otherwise, McIntire says, you might have a struggle on your hands. Or you might jump in and do it for them, which would undermine the whole point.

Don't delay. You might think your child is too young. But your kids may be more capable than you think. Kids can do a lot of chores at an early stage, McIntire says. For example, getting clothes to the laundry or cleaning up after dinner. "We hold back too long because we think they ought to be ready first. But that puts the cart before the horse," he says. That is, they'll learn by doing.

Don't be stingy with praise. Get that praise going right away! Don't wait until the chore is done. Praise and encourage the child while the chore is in progress. You want to build positive momentum, especially with young kids.

Don't be inconsistent. Elizabeth Pantley, author of parenting books including Kid Cooperation: How to Stop Yelling, Nagging, and Pleading and Get Kids to Cooperate, says if your kids aren't expected to regularly follow through, they might start putting chores off in the hope that someone else will do them for them.

Make a Chores Chart

"Create a list of every job it takes to keep a family going," Fay says. Have kids pick out the chores they'd most like to do. Then create a chart.

First, check that everyone has an age-appropriate chore. Then divide the chart into three columns. One is for the list of chores and whose chore it is; another is for deadlines; the last one is for making a check mark when the chore is done. Put the chart where everyone can see it and let everyone follow through on their own assignments.

You might actually find it easiest to have two charts: one for daily household chores and one for weekly household chores.

Here are two more tips:

Be specific with instructions. Pantley says, "'Clean your room' is vague and can be interpreted in any number of ways. Instead, be explicit by saying, 'Put your clothes in the closet, books on the shelf, dishes in the kitchen, and toys in the toy box.'"

Ease into chores for children. First, show them how to do the chore step by step. Next, let your child help you do it. Then have your child do the chore as you supervise. Once your child has it mastered, she's ready to go solo.

Go easy with reminders and deadlines. You want the chore to get done without you micromanaging it. Pantley recommends the "when/then" technique. For example, say, "When the pets are fed, then you may have your dinner."

Allowance for Chores?

Should your child get an allowance for chores? Usually not, say most parenting experts.

Chores are partly about responsibility and partly about learning household tasks. They're not focused on earning money. Yes, kids need to learn how to handle money, but not by doing chores they're supposed to do anyway.

It's especially important to not tie allowances to chores for younger kids, Pantley says. That's because a younger child may be less motivated by money and simply choose to not do them.

There's an exception: For older kids who already know how to be responsible, money can become a nice motivator for doing extra chores above and beyond their usual tasks.

Fay suggests letting them bid on those extra chores and picking the lowest bid.

Age-Appropriate Chores for Children

Your child may be able to do more than you think. "Keep in mind that a child who has mastered a complicated computer game can easily run the dishwasher," Pantley says.

In general, she says, preschoolers can handle one or two simple one-step or two-step jobs. Older children can manage more. Here are her pointers on kids' chores by age:

Chores for children ages 2 to 3

Put toys away
Fill pet's food dish
Put clothes in hamper
Wipe up spills
Dust
Pile books and magazines

Chores for children ages 4 to 5

Indispensable

Submitted by Beverly Simpson

When you're feeling so important and your ego is in bloom.
When you simply take for granted you're the wisest in the room.
When you feel your very absence would leave a great big hole,

Just follow these instructions
They will humble any soul.

Take a bucket filled with water
Put your hand in to the wrist,
Pull it out, the hole remaining
Is how much you will be missed.
Splash wildly when you enter,
Stir a lot and splash galore,
Then stop, and in a minute,
It looks just like before.

The moral to this story
Is do the best you can,
Be proud, but please remember,
There's no indispensable man.

Jim and Pam Kugel

What Brought You to Winslow

By Jo Kyle

Pam and Jim Kugel moved to Fayetteville, AR in October 1992 from Oregon via Florida. Pam's mother had family in the area and supposedly the job situation was better in AR then in Oregon. However that proved not to be the case.

Jim finally got a job at Tyson's Mexican Original plant in 1992. He worked at Tyson's for 8 years. He became a pastor in 1997 and was ordained in 1999. From 1997 - 1999 he served as the Chaplain at Tyson's.

In 1993 Pam enrolled in nursing school while also working as a CNA at Springdale Hospital and several nursing homes in the area. She graduated from nursing school as an RN in May 1997.

They lived in Fayetteville until September 2000 moving to the Brentwood-Winslow area.

Jim retired from Tyson's to become a full time pastor. He pastored at Brentwood Community Church until it closed and now has Saints of Christ Fellowship which meets every Friday night with a meal at 5:30 and a service at 6:00 PM at the Boston Mountain Fire Station on Hwy 71. He also has a growing lawn mowing and weed eating service.

In 2005 Bryanna, Jocelyn, and Austin, the couple's grandchildren came to live with them. In 2009 they adopted them.

In 2009 Pam became disabled to work as a nurse. 2011 opened up a new opportunity for her, a job at the Winslow Branch Library where she is employed today. Stop in and visit Pam at the library and see what a wonderful job she is doing there.

WINSLOW Ozark Folkways will hold its 20th Annual Heritage Day May 4th from 10-4 p.m.

“Heritage Day is our annual celebration of local culture, past, present and, if we teach our children well, the future” according to Rebecca Buchanan, Director of Ozark Folkways.

“We are excited to have Martha Estes as our entertainment coordinator this year! Martha has scheduled our indoor stage throughout the day. Entertainment includes gospel and folk music, storytellers, and University of Arkansas Professor Lyell Thompson, a master Mark Twain impersonator.

We also have demonstrations of spinning, rug-hooking, basket-making, quilting, lacemaking, a tea cup auction of local arts and crafts, and of course, excellent food! This year we will offer beans and bacon (also a vegan variety) sizzling skillet cornbread, homemade cobbler and tea, coffee or lemonade for only $5.00!

At 7:00 p.m. Ozark Folkways will host local legends Crow Johnson and Still on the Hill on our new stage in the woods. The concert is $10, with kids 12 and under free. Everyone should bring a lawn chair.

Ozark Folkways is a 501 (c) 3 organization dedicated to preserving Ozark native arts, crafts and music. Olive Loom, a local Fayetteville company, won the prestigious 2012 Start-up Cup award for Northwest Arkansas small businesses. They will provide the leadership and the teachers for the workshops at Ozark Folkways.

Olive Loom, a Northwest Arkansas small sustainable business, is introducing a new couture line this week called fromJane.

Leah Garrett, president of Olive Loom, explains her line in this way: " People ask me, 'Who is Jane?' I tell them Jane could be you or your neighbor. Jane is creative and passionate about fashion and she loves to sew. She is every hometown American Woman who supports her family and builds community by doing what she loves to do best. fromJane. is for real women. Our style is inspired by the needs for the everyday women to look and feel their best with clothing that is made to fit, flatter and last."

Olive Loom, employs local people, creating local jobs that help sustain the economy. They allow the flexibility for seamstresses to work from home, part-time, making living wages.

In 2012, Olive Loom won the prestigious Start-up Cup award for Northwest Arkansas small businesses. They are proud to label their clothing and accessories, "Made in the USA"

NEW COLUMNS

This month we are going to try a couple of new columns with the hope that there will be enough participation and interest to continue them. The first column will highlight people who have moved to AR and particularly the Brentwood-Winslow area. If you would like to be interviewed for "What Brought You to Winslow" just let us know. Sometimes, even after several years, you don't even know your neighbors. We hope to change that.

The second column will involve the Pastors of the local churches either sending us or having one of the congregation send the paper "What's Happening at _____ Church. This month we highlighted the Winslow First Baptist Church. Heaven Knows each church can always find a few more seats for new members or even visitors. This may a way to enlighten the community about special happenings or regular Bible studies and Services.

Let's see if these two columns will open up the community to new opportunities.

"Walking by Faith"

By Pastor Greg Dold
Winslow First Baptist Church

⁶ So, we are always confident and know that while we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord. ⁷ For we walk by faith, not by sight, ⁸ and we are confident and satisfied to be out of the body and at home with the Lord.

The world in which we live is a very scary place. The world is also a very beautiful place. In the past I would often seek answers to life's toughest questions and I come up short of those answers more often than not. That is until; I began to study the Bible.... God's Living Word.

We live in a day and time that we are able to hear of the greatest wonders and the worst catastrophes in a moment's notice. When we hear those things chances are we want to know; why? The Bible gives those answers more often than not; we just have to be willing to look. There are many reasons people have for not reading their Bible.

"I'm just not a reader,"

"I would read it, but I can't understand it,"

"It is boring".....

I have heard them all, and even thought them all at one point or another. However, may I say this in reply? There are audio Bibles, New Translations that are easier to understand, and finally, make it a personal challenge to read at least one chapter per night. You'll find yourself able to do that and then some.

At the end of the day however, we are told that we must walk by faith. If life is getting you down, know that God has a plan for your life that will work together for good. Trusting in the Lord is what a relationship with God is all about. Knowing that God has plans greater for you than what you have for yourself. It requires faith to do that. When life doesn't seem to make sense anymore, go to God in prayer, open your Bible, and put your faith to work.

I leave you today with this passage of encouragement from God's Word: "For I assure you: If you have faith the size of mustard seed, you will tell this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you". Matthew 17:20 What mountain do you need to move? Give it to God in faith and watch what happens next.

Yours in faith,
Greg

DO YOU KNOW THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN HOPE AND NO HOPE?

1 THESSALONIANS 4:13-18

By Pastor Jim Kugel
Saints of Christ Fellowship Church

¹³ But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope.

¹⁴ For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

¹⁵ For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not precede them which are asleep.

¹⁶ For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

¹⁷ Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

¹⁸ Therefore comfort one another with these words.
KJV

Some go to Heaven when they die and some don't. Some will be ready for Christ and some won't.

Here is a text to help us know the difference.

The difference between hope and no hope. (Verse 13)

Concern about loved ones who die (Heb. 9:27)

Paul faces the problem and gives answers. We do not sorrow as those who have no hope.

Sorrow is normal when loved ones die. Grief is normal: Jesus wept at a grave (John 11:35)

The Christian's grief is different. We have assurance of better things ahead. (Phil. 1:21-23)

We know where departed believers have gone. (2 Cor. 5:8)

We know we will see them again (1 Thes. 17)

Lost people have no hope.

The difference between belief and unbelief (1 Thes. 14)

If we believe that Jesus died and Rose again then we have hope. The key to hope is Faith. To believe is to trust, more than intellectual assent. Resting securely in Christ who died and rose again.

To believe is to be saved (Acts 16:31)

To believe is to be sure of Heaven (1 John 5: 12-13)

Concerning those who refuse to believe:

The have no hope of Heaven, they will be lost forever.

The difference between the first and the second resurrections (1 Thes. Vers 16)

What happens when Jesus comes?

The Lord descends from Heaven with a shout. The voice of the Archangel and the trumpet of God.

Jesus returns with those who have gone to Heaven. He resurrects their bodies and reunites them.

Living believers are caught up and changed. (1 Cor. 15:51)

This cloud of Christians departs for heaven.

All unbelievers are lost. The unbelievers dead are not resurrected.

Unbelievers are resurrected later for judgment. (Rev. 20:5-15)

Are you lost and without hope of Heaven?

Join the different crowd!

Come as a sinner to Jesus. Receive Him by Faith and be ready for Heaven and His return.

After 39½ years of wandering in the desert, Mrs. Moses secretly asks for directions.
