WINSLOW HISTORY DAY

The Winslow Museum would like to invite everyone out to help celebrate the 1st Annual Winslow History Day on June 25, 2016. The event will be held in historic downtown Winslow from 10:00 am – 3:00 pm and will cover the period from 1905-1930. So many wonderful things happened in Winslow during this time period we can only touch on a few. The little city was incorporated and the Petticoat Government made its appearance.

There will be a bean and cornbread dinner sponsored by the Winslow Community Center Association. Desserts will be made and sold by the Winslow Extension Homemakers Club. Come out and enjoy demonstrations of candle making, jam making, an old fashioned taffy pull, an old-time medicine show, as well as, music and dramas. There will be kid's games and a watermelon seed spitting contest. If you have stories or memorabilia to share we welcome all to participate. There will also be a re-enactment performed by the Lawbreakers and Peacemakers spotlighting one of Winslow's most notorious residents.

The Winslow Museum will be selling many items, including new T-shirts designed for the event. Hope to see everyone there!

Upcoming for WCCA in July

A "Bluegrass in the Park" benefit will be held on Saturday, July 16 at the Winslow Ballpark. All proceeds will go to the WCCA. More information on this benefit will be forthcoming. Keep an eye on Facebook for updates.

Carman Earl Courtney,
November 18, 1938~May 21, 2016

Carman Earl Courtney was born at home on the family farm in Winslow, Arkansas on November 18, 1938. Earl was the 10th of the 12 Courtney children. He worked the family farm until he was 16. At age 16 he moved to Washington State to live with his sisters, Randolyn and Norma, to work the harvest. It was there that Randolyn taught him to play guitar. He used the money he earned that year to buy the first of his many guitars.

In 1956, after a year in Washington, Earl returned home to Arkansas and enlisted in the Army. After three years of service, he returned to civilian life in 1959 and made a decision that would shape the rest of his life. Earl's brothers were working at the mine in Climax, Colorado, and Earl decided he would go work with them. It was there that Earl met the love of his life, Shirley Kufeldt. Earl and Shirley were married on July 30, 1960. They were blessed to share 55 years of marriage and 56 years of friendship.

Wanting to provide for his new bride and their future family, Earl decided to return to the Army. Military life allowed Earl and Shirley to travel all over the world together. Both of their children, Charlene and Carmen, were born overseas in Germany while Earl was stationed there.

While in Germany, Earl had the opportunity to open for the U.S.O. and for many famous entertainers, including: Hank Snow, Brenda Lee, Faron Young, and The Willis Brothers. He was even offered a career in music in Nashville, but chose to continue serving his family and country instead.

Earl retired from the Army in 1978 after 22 years of service as a combat helicopter pilot. He served a remote tour in Korea and a tour of combat during the Vietnam War. He achieved the high rank of Chief Warrant Officer 3 and received The Vietnam Service Medal with four Bronze Service Stars, Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal (Korea), Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Cross with Palm, Armed Forces Reserve Medal, and the Army Commendation Medal.

After he retired, Earl and Shirley and their youngest daughter Carmen moved home to Arkansas to be with his family. He cared for his aging parents, his siblings, and his immediate family, all while working as many as three jobs at a time.

Earl was the man you wanted on your side. If you were a friend or family to Earl, you knew you would always be taken care of. When anyone needed anything, someone would always say, "Call Earl."

Earl was a man of patience, who found pleasure investing his time in the things he loved, as is evidenced by the way he chose to spend his time. He was a flight instructor, charter pilot, FBO manager, carpenter, and welding instructor. He also loved gardening, fishing and hunting, teaching music, and playing music any chance he got. He played and sang in various bands ever since 1957, and was still performing regularly until March of 2016.

Earl lived a Christian life. He was a man of his word and he cared for the meek and the lowly. He was obedient to the Lord in the profession of his faith and in baptism on May 15, 2016. We rest in the confidence that he is now in the Kingdom of his Savior, where all is as it should be. Earl's life was defined by the things he loved. He lived his life to serve his country, and those dear to him. There is a large circle of lives he touched with his generosity; lives that are different and better for having known him.

He was preceded in death by his parents Charles and Lillian Courtney, his brothers Conrad (Sonny) and Carlton Courtney and his baby sister Charlene Lockett. He will be greatly missed by his wife Shirley and his daughters Charlene White and husband Steve, Carmen Rees and husband Christian, his siblings Randolyn Kilpatrick, Leona Thurber, Shirley Pool, Charles Courtney, Norma Hill, Marilyn Lindsey, Carlma Jean Hodges, John Courtney, his grandchildren Jeremy and Emily White, Billy and Nicole White, Christian and Cori White, Sommer and Luke Roller, Courtney and Anna Rees, Lydia White, Katharine Rees, Vandegrift Rees, and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were 10:00 A.M. Friday, May 27, 2016 at the First Baptist Church West Fork with Pastor Heath Clower officiating. Interment followed in Blackburn Cemetery (Winslow) with full military honors under the direction of Beard's Chapel.

www.RoberdsChiropractic.com

Dear Dr. Roberds,

I've been noticing that one side of my face looks different from the other. Is this OK?

Look at your face in the mirror. It looks familiar doesn't it? Now take a closer look with the understanding that there are 23 bones in the skull, with these questions in mind:

Look at the position of each eye. Is one lower than the other? Does one seem smaller than the other?

What about your ears? Does one seem lower than the other? Is one farther back in the head than the other? And when you talk or smile do you use one side of your mouth more than the other?

These irregularities can usually be seen by anyone, but there are other abnormal indicators that a trained BioCranial Chiropractic Physician can detect. These "flaws" are an indication that the cranial bones are misaligned. When cranial bones are misaligned, the spine is also misaligned. These cranial and spinal faults have a negative impact on your health.

Symptoms like asthma, ADD, chronic fatigue, colic, female disorders, headaches, sciatica, irritable bowel syndrome, malaise and even spinal misalignments, can be helped, by gently correcting the cranial fault. Biocranial and spinal faults can impinge on nerves - and the weight of a dime pressing on just one nerve can interfere with that nerve's function, up to 60%, and yet often be totally painless. (Google Dr. Chung Ha Suh, Ph.D.)

Anyone who went through a "traditional" birthing process probably has a "silent" Biocranial fault. The 'modern' birthing process is often how the first cranial and spinal misalignments occur, causing early onset interference to optimal nerve and body function. Optimal health depends on optimal function.

Uncorrected health problems don't get better with time, and the absence of symptoms is no indication of the presence of health.

Now is always the best time to correct a health problem.

THE LAWBREAKERS & PEACEMAKERS

The Cavern

David Gesn© 2015

Why would a cavern exist that would contain the artifacts thus mentioned in past segments? Maybe it was to behold the history of past settlements, the villages of the past. Maybe the Quapaw village, referred to as “Osotuo” had more to offer future generations than originally believed.

Modern man seems to be more preoccupied with the Civil War in America than how this country originally began. America was never truly “discovered”, for it was never lost to begin with. “Let it lay and thus be forgotten”, quoted one historian. What does the modern man do, so many, when excavating the past? They exploit it or destroy it. The Cavern exemplifies the Cherokee, Osage, Quapaw, the Chickasaw, and Choctaw, even the Cheyenne, Apache and Pawnee.

Many caves exist in Northwestern Arkansas, and some intertwine with each other. Many are unadorned, with no factual existence of any recorded history. Along the White and Buffalo rivers history has been recorded in thirteen or so different locations.

Frog Bayou presented history of ancient civilizations. Much of the knowledge gained was sold to museums in Washington DC, Michigan and New York.

The Caddo people of Arkansas lived primarily in Southwestern Arkansas prior to 800 A.D. And is it possible that the Tunica existed primarily at the mouth of the Arkansas River, and Pawnee as close as Kansas?

What if the “River of the Cayas” was in actually the Arkansas River? What if “mounding building was as far west of the Mississippi, as say, Brentwood, Arkansas? So, we already know that, if we consider Bluffton. Just what if De Soto himself traveled up the Arkansas, and confusedly branched off somewhere in the Boston Mountains? Trade could have taken place at any given point. When certain artifacts are found at a distinct location, it is at times assumed that certain events “naturally” took place there. Then again it could be nothing more than an assumption with certain parties involved. Maybe archeological interpretation, which we know is not always correct and/or debatable. Chronicles are also written with some truth, but also consisting of legend which entails some truth, yet, fantasy.

The American Indian never foresaw, in the beginning what was to be in the years ahead, as far as he was concerned. The Spaniards, the English, the French, all originally travelled to America for its riches – its gold, wealth. Whoever had the greatest if strength acquired “absolute ownership of property.” It continues today, in theory. We do it by means of legality to each other; it is called “eminent domain.” In any case it is no more than competition for prestige, somewhere between reciprocity and retribution, depending on what side of the fence you’re on.

Prior to any European ever arriving in America, the Indian saw few, if any, major diseases. With the introduction of new Peoples, different standards of living brought about many diseases, such as influenza, smallpox, measles, the plague, trachoma, and diphtheria. The Indians had no buildup of immunity to such diseases and mortality rates of young adults soared. Parasites and infestation became the norm and epidemics broke out in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri. It was stated that De Soto and his men introduced typhus, the plague, and malaria to the Indian Nation. In Texas alone; it being such a dry region; each generation from the early/mid 1700’s to te late 1800’s suffered epidemics of mortality.

YOU THINK ABOUT THAT

PROACTIVE

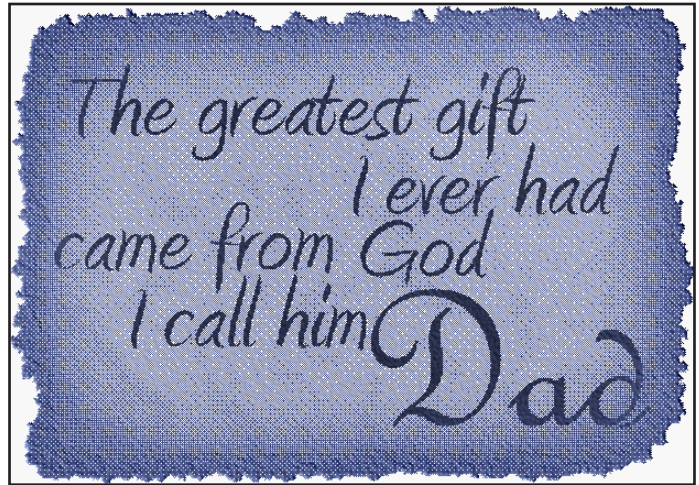

Do you know the meaning of "Proactive"? I've gotten so disgusted lately or actually over the past years of how undisturbed the Church has been about the sins and abominations blatantly being forced on our society. But the "Reaction" of the Church when they start being manifested in the public just astounds me. And oh can the Church React. Social media is just lit up with reaction to this latest Restroom issue. All the big heads of the Church wrote big articles "Reacting" to the Supreme Court Same Sex ruling, like big deal, what they wrote was going to change anything. Ronnie Floyd was quoted in the NWA Times June 14, 2015 saying "Floyd said many Southern Baptist churches aren't equipped to address same-sex marriage. "The bottom line is a lot of churches are totally intimidated by the issue". Why is that? No one seems to understand or even care about "Proactive". If you read my last month's article (posted at www.winslowar.com) and care enough to actually do it you will understand God is about being "Proactive" not "Reactive". If the Church doesn't get "Proactive" and stop this same sex issue, this restroom issue pales in comparison to what is coming. There will be a Judgment day and you will be there to answer for "Your" own personal actions, not what your Church did, not what your Pastor did, but what you did.

I'm Wesley Wood, YOU THINK ABOUT THAT!
