Successful Christmas Parade

Each year the Winslow Annual Christmas Parade gets a little bigger and more diverse. Even Mother Nature went out of Her way to cooperate giving us balmy temperatures in the high 50's, low 60's. The threat of rain held off until everything had wound down before it started to sprinkle.

The Friends of the Winslow Library kept everyone filled up with Chili, Hot Chocolate and Coffee to ward off any chill later in the evening.

Plaques are awarded in two categories: Motorized and Non-Motorized.

In the Motorized division:

1st Place was awarded to Doyle Meadors for his '57 Chevy.

2nd Place went to Brandon Reed for his Camaro.

3rd Place was taken by George Henson for his Orange Pickup.

In the Non-Motorized Division:

1st Place was to Maria de Fatima Pollard in her gorgeous, lighted, handmade Angel Costume.

2nd Place was captured by Jerry Bromley on his Indian Ride complete with quiver and arrows.

Ellen May and her nieces on ponies rode off with the 3rd place plaque.

Chris Allen won the wooden train set carved by Fred Derwin and raffled off by the Winslow Home Extension cluh.

Following are random pictures taken at the parade.

“The Cavern”

D. Gesn© 2014

It appears that Arkansas has not been excluded in the bat problem known as Geomyces-destructans – the white nose fungus syndrome that initially became noticeable in 2006. Approaching a cave not too far in distance from the cavern, a few years ago, I observed a couple of bats flying around as if in a daze, one early morn. The sun had already begun to rise and the bat should have already been inside some structure.

The “fungus amongst us” is not the only fungus that has materialized hurting a certain species.

Cryphonectria parasitica, a fungus, destroyed virtually all of the American chestnut trees. So, what do we lose if we lose our bat population? One million bats can eat up to 700 tons of insects in a year’s time period! During winter months, bats hibernate and their metabolism steps down a notch or two. Losing a month’s worth of fat, due to a fungus, may destroy the bat. Thus insects not eaten multiply to an alarming rate of existence. Initially, it seemed that the brown bat was the most endangered of the species. Since the bat hibernates in the winter, he or she uses up the stored fat and then loses energy to feed itself properly if need be. Death is certain for this bat.

Bats do not merely eat insects; they pollinate flowers and scatter seed. The “little Brown Bat” is not bigger than a human’s thumb and stores up just about two grams of fat for hibernation. Without certain bat species mankind itself may indeed experience more than merely an explosion of insects on the horizon. Prices at the grocery store won’t go sky-high just because of any oil crisis.

Even though bats do not appear in the cavern, the rule of thumb is not to enter any caves period. That’s the way the law reads and since the government of the land proclaims such a law only the government can supposedly change it at any given interval.

We know that our government works, sometimes, in both a positive and negative arrangement to suit itself. There is always an argument of the greater needs of mankind in the reasoning of any initial action concerning any arrangement. One such example happened a few years back concerning the great state of Alaska. The government argued the importance of the Pebble mine, how it would so benefit thousands of folks that depended on fishing for a living, Chinook and Sockeye salmon, rainbow trout, etc., etc., etc. Of course we are talking about drilling for “possibly” the largest gold deposit in the world and “possibly” the largest copper deposit. The odd thing is that the Pebble Partnership was the idea of two foreign- (one and the same) allies –British Columbia and England. The Yupik tribe has depended on fishing for its existence for thousands of years. So the government of the land can change its position at any given moment on any certain arrangement – positive or negative, and make either seem like a good deal for the benefit of mankind as a whole. If the Cavern houses no bats, then stipulations could occur – course, it’s not my decision.

Mankind has always had one important factor under his belt – to endure – no matter the consequences of any prior negative. Malaria, smallpox, yellow fever wiped out many people in their “heyday”, yet mankind survived. Survivability is bone deep within us no matter any initial negative. The American Indian had visions of the future of his resources, yet knew that the natural order of his very existence would always be challenged by nature, in itself. There were diseases brought from other countries, by man, at the beginning of a new nation, but diseases of man – himself, were apparent prior to any European coming to America. Cancer has been around since the beginning of man, for everyone is born with cancer cells within their body. Deer tick fever is nothing new and even though minute in existence, malaria exists today as it did yesterday. As long as any micro-organism exists, something of a negative will appear as well as any positive. The Indian of yesteryear knew this, and accepted it as merely a way of life, even though it was often stated he was of a superstitious presence. Man today, has his black magic just as the Indian of the past. Shark-skin tablets and green tea is loaded with antioxidants, but neither will prevent cancer in its worst form from appearing in any one person. “Hocus-Pocus” appears today just as much as it did in the past, only now, by the endeavors of intelligent, scientific beings.

Everything we do today is the past of tomorrow. Yet history repeats itself over and over. In different forms does it do this, but many times, the idea remains the same. The Indian of yesteryear scalped his victims to capture the spirit of his enemy. In the 20th Century, the North Vietnamese place a human being on an “X” and cut strips of skin each day until the human died. Today America buys their products of commodities. America put the Indian on reservations and today Americans spend thousands of dollars at their casinos. Sickness and death plagued the Egyptians. Sickness and death plagued Europeans later on. Sickness and death plagued the American Indian, as well as later, even into the early 1900’s, the Yellow Fever epidemic killed many a man of many an origin.

The honey bee has its mites. The bats have their fungus, man vs man every day. Nothing has changed since Cain slew Abel. Man stored history in caves centuries ago. Man digs a hole today, layers it with concrete and drops in the “present for the “future generations”. The only differences are the shapes and locations and descriptions both of the hole we choose and its contents but the idea remains the same. Early man searched for gold and other riches and today man continues to search. Man of yesteryear had a piece of land he called his own. The government came in and proclaimed “imminent domain” for the good of man as a whole. Today he does exactly the same thing. Yes sir, history repeats itself over and over. Many things went extinct in the past. Who knows what the future will bring?

Used Book Store Reopens

The Friends of the Winslow Used Book Store is now ready to reopen. There are lots of “new” used books on the shelves with more to be added. It still needs some finishing touches, more books to be shelved and other odds and ends to be done.

The Friends are looking for volunteers to help “man” the Book Store during library hours. If you have a few hours a week or even just a few hours a month tell the librarian on duty or let Beverly at City Hall know when you are available. We look forward to seeing you.

Comedy Corner

By David Gesn©2016

This column is mine, and it's not always funny. In a sadistic kind of way, this article is funny. I write my articles a month in advance. Today, I am in some pain but not overly extreme. When this article is printed I will once again be in horrific pain. Eventually, I will lose the use of my left leg. For me, according to my doctors, there is no cure and it is inoperable. So far, I've managed to "live beyond my time."

Today, I am on drugs for pain. Without certain meds I could go into shock. The pain is worse than getting shot; ask me how I know! It's continuous pain, every second of everyday – 24-7. At this interval, Hospice is not a choice. The reason I will be in this pain is because, "I may get addicted to the drugs". Personally, I could care less. Some of my pain is visible. My left leg is four times bigger, in places, than my right leg. The AMA and the Government is cracking down on the use of drugs, putting everyone in the same category. Doctors have to follow guidelines, even if they make no sense. Lawsuits by family members are supposedly part of the problem. Medical staff has to "cover their butts".

Three days prior to my father's death, I was told these haunting words, "I can't give him any more morphine because he might get addicted, besides he doesn't know if he's in any pain or not!" Why he did not choose Hospice I don't know! Of course I went to the top of the ladder and drugs were administered. Years later I heard those same words spoken in two different states. Proves one thing, it's undoubtedly taught to the medical staff.

Come and see my pain! Come and see me scream in pain at three o'clock in the morning! The diagnosis has been documented and the physical evidence is most apparent. No cure, just worrying about getting "addicted".

Everyone has a different pain tolerance. I use to be better at it, but age has caught up with me. It's ok for me to scream and "wake up the dead"! By the way, I'm also a diabetic. Try explaining to someone that studied medicine for about a year why a diabetic needs to have sugar at intervals. Go ahead; you might as well be talking to the wall! Take my candy or juice away and I'll break your hand! Close up your ears, I'll be the one screaming. You'll be the one "covering your butt"!

You can come and see some of my pain and I won't even charge you for it. By the way, those pamphlets on how to handle pain make good fire starters on a cold damp night, in any fireplace. That pain chart – a "one to ten question", I won't tell you what you can do with that, it wouldn't be Christian-like! Let me get a hammer and beat you half to death with it, then ask you on a scale of "one to ten" how bad you hurt – How stupid is that?

How's this article for a good laugh? Almost unbelievable isn't it? Yet, it happens every day. There's only one good thing about all of this, I can thank the Good Lord that I won't be around when America loses all common sense and becomes the "Absolute of Stupidity". Maybe, just maybe, we still have a chance – maybe...
Happy New Year – Hallelujah!

“THE LEAST OF THESE THRIFT SHOP”

The old Assembly of God Church thrift store has been renamed “The Least of These Thrift Shop”. It is located in the old candle factory on Highway 71. The hours are Monday thru Saturday 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

The store has expanded its assortment of goods into categories such as , sporting goods section, tool section, etc. Check with the ladies at the store to see what other sections they have completed. If you have no use for it and it’s in working condition consider donating it so someone else can use it. They have a weather-proof outside storage area so you may drop things off anytime, even when they are not open,

I feel like my body has gotten totally out of shape, so I got my doctor's permission to join a fitness club and start exercising. I decided to take an aerobics class for seniors.

I bent, twisted, gyrated, jumped up and down, and perspired for an hour. But, by the time I got my leotards on, the class was over.

YOU THINK ABOUT THAT

By Wesley Wood
479-466-0681
wesretired@cox.net

" And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil:"

Luke 11: 1 And it came to pass, that, as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.

Luke 11: 2 And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy Kingdom Come.

Thy Will be done on earth, as it is in heaven

Mathew 6: 9 quotes him as saying "After this manner therefore pray ye".

Neither of these Disciples quotes Jesus as saying "This is how I pray". Instead they quote him as saying "This how you pray".

This begs the question; how did this get to be called "The Lord's Prayer". Jesus didn't say "This is How I Pray, he said "this is How You Pray. This is your Prayer.

I'm going to break it down in the next few months and see if we can understand just how powerful this prayer really is.

" And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil:" Ever since the fall of man and the ensuing of an imperfect nature; it has always been the nature of men to (Push The Envelope) go against the rules, God's laws and Manmade Laws. This is not to say your submission to the Father through this prayer and this particular phrase " And lead us not into temptation" will keep you from being tempted. However it will insure the promise, 1 Corinthians 10:13 There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it. Personally I have found this to be absolutely true since I started submitting my life with this prayer and absolutely not true when I was praying the way the Church teaches you to pray. " But deliver us from evil" does not mean "bad things" and "things" you "do not" like "will not" happen. People erroneously say nothing bad comes from God. 1 Samuel 16:14 But the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord troubled him. Satan could not trouble Job until God allowed him. The beautiful thing about submitting your life through this prayer is that when these things happen you can by Faith believe that it is the Father's plan for your life. And that my friend gives you a totally different and positive way of thinking about what's happening. As people seem to thrive on talking about "Trials", "Valleys", "Mountaintop" experiences; doesn't happen with Faith in this prayer. Luke 3: 5, Every "valley" shall be "filled", and every "mountain" and "hill" shall be brought "low"; and the "crooked" shall be made "straight", and the "rough" ways shall be made "smooth".

When you say this prayer "Our Father which art in heaven", "Hallowed be thy name", "Thy Kingdom Come", "Thy will be done in my life as it is in heaven", "Provide my needs today", "Forgive my sins as I forgive others" you are acknowledging the Father, Worshiping in the truest form of worship, committing and submitting your life to the authority and will of God by his infinite Wisdom and Knowledge to work his plan, provide your needs for your life and forgive your sins, as you forgive others. For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God". "And lead you not into temptation, but deliver you from evil:" My Faith is; He knows our tomorrow better than we know our yesterday. ## Jesus Loves Me

From an Email

While watching a little TV on Sunday instead of going to church, I watched a Church in Atlanta honoring one of its senior pastors who had been retired many years. He was 92 at that time and I wondered why the Church even bothered to ask the old gentleman to preach at that age.

After a warm welcome, introduction of this speaker, and as the applause quieted down he rose from his high back chair and walked slowly, with great effort and a sliding gate to the podium. Without a note or written paper of any kind he placed both hands on the pulpit to steady himself and then quietly and slowly he began to speak....

"When I was asked to come here today and talk to you, your pastor asked me to tell you what was the greatest lesson ever learned in my 50 odd years of preaching. I thought about it for a few days and boiled it down to just one thing that made the most difference in my life and sustained me through all my trials. The one thing that I could always rely on when tears and heart break and pain and fear and sorrow paralyzed me.....the only thing that would comfort was this verse.....

"Jesus loves me this I know.
For the Bible tells me so.
Little ones to Him belong,
we are weak but He is strong.....
Yes, Jesus loves me...
The Bible tells me so."

When he finished, the church was quiet. You actually could hear his footsteps as he shuffled back to his chair. I don't believe I will ever forget it. A pastor once stated.....

"I always noticed that it was the adults who chose the children's hymn 'Jesus Loves Me' (for the children of course) during a hymn sing, and it was the adults who sang the loudest because I could see they knew it the best."
