"ARKANSANS AGAINST STRATOSPHERIC AEROSOL GEOENGINEERING"
(Located in Little Rock)

You may not be familiar with that title...But you are very familiar with it's affects....'phenomenal weather'/'unprecedented weather' in the last few years....you need to know how and why, especially if you have children and grandchildren or have been seeing an increase in illness in yourself or those you know and love. This is no "secret"...geoengineering has been occurring for many years and is well documented. However, it's increase and results and reasons for it continuing have been noticed. If you are living in this world, and specifically Arkansas...Please...Check into this. Take time to play one less game on Facebook, or watch one less episode of TV...This is a serious issue. And pass this on to those you love. If you have any doubts....look up...literally...go outside from time to time and look up into the sky. You'll 'get it'. Frightening? Certainly....but we must begin to face it before it goes any further. Knowledge is power. You are not powerless and there is 'nothing you can do'....educate, inform...speak out.

Where Is Spring?

March definitely came in roaring like a lion last weekend. Everyone is going around asking "When is Winter going to be over?" The groundhog did see his shadow so that means another two weeks before Spring is "technically" here, according to Phil or which ever groundhog you follow, but everyone I talk to is so tired of this weather. Even the school children, who normally look forward to snow days are ready to be done with it. Some will now be going to school into June, even if the schools do cancel Spring Break. Cancel Spring Break! Yes Kids. That looks like what will happen in some of the schools.

Sunday, March 9, 2014 is the first day of Day Light Savings. It's really hard to think about turning your clocks forward when there is snow on the ground. Two weeks ago I was thinking about buying some cabbage plants, getting my mini-mini tiller , with no wheels, out to till in my postage-stamp sized garden and get gardening season on the road. WOW! Sure am glad I didn't go to town that week. As hardy as cabbage and broccoli are I don't think they would have made it without a lot of extra measures to take care of them.

About all we can be sure of is that the calendar says to turn the clocks forward on the 9th and hope that Spring really is on the way!!

Well I thought winter was finally over but of course I was wrong. Time to come in and get some more books to curl up to the fire with. Maybe soon we can say it is spring.

Lots of new good books are here come and check them out.

Remember you can check out library books on your e readers now. We have a great selection of books, audio books. Fiction, nonfiction, young adult, juniors, children's books, videos, CD's and it's all for free.

If you don't have a library card just come in and Jean or I will help you with getting one. It is also free.

Why go and pay for a movie when you can check one out for free at the library.

We look forward to seeing you.

"Comedy Corner"

"Not Funny"

What is true communication? It is a positive element of society that allows for compromise. It may not be an absolute solution for any problem, but it does allow for agreeable arrangements or possibilities. "Rumors" and gossip eventually become nothing more than disastrous argumentation. More than often, they involve jealousy and /or revenge. In a moral sense, it hurts others whether the story is false or correct. Intelligent and ignorant alike perform the deed. Argumentation never wins anything, nor ever proves an absolute.

Communication often waits in the aisles of patience and then true intelligence emerges from any open-minded discussion. Hallelujah!

It is in our nature to "get back" at the storyteller of gossip or rumor, whether it be truth or lie. By the power of suggestion and thought does it stroll thru' the atmosphere. Small towns are notorious for it, although having no monopoly on it. Some folks prey upon it with joy. It is a reward for them to do so. Indirectly, they become the bullies of society. As possibly with you, it has happened also to me. The rumor was false, but it did its damage. Revenge is not on my agenda for one day these people involved shall face a greater source of power; one without an argumentative spirit. Nothing shall I do but pray on the matter.

I cannot argue the fact that I am no saint, but when someone finds the perfect man or woman, call me ASAP! I want to shake their hand! Hallelujah!

HONORARY RECEPTION FOR LETA MCGUIRE

There will be an Honorary Reception held for Leta on April 12 , 2014 at the Winslow Assembly of God Fellowship Hall from 2-5.

Leta has been a beautician for 60 years! She also has had the longest running business in Winslow.

We would like to celebrate her accomplishments.

All are welcome. Just drop in anywhere between 2:00 and 5:00 on April 12th.

WINSLOW LOVED ONES WE HAVE LOST

Dwayne Dennis

Velda's Words

What War Does to People

Taken from Velda's Blog posted on March 3, 2014

Funny, as I sit here trying to come up with something to share with my readers, I realize that the only writer's block I ever have is when faced with writing my weekly blog. This is not understandable, since for 19 years I worked under a newspaper deadline for columns or any news or feature stories that popped up and had to be written.

Other writers I know admit to the same problem. What in the world can I write that anyone would possibly find interesting enough to read? Hint: Use lots of pictures then you don't have to write so much.

I didn't watch the Academy Awards Sunday night, so that's out. What I did watch was a movie about three WW II vets who returned to the scene of a battle at Omaha Beach. One was a Brit, the other two Americans, or as they called each other, a Limey and a Yankee. Two had fallen in love with the French nurse who cared for them after they were wounded. The third had been wounded so seriously that he was mentally challenged, as we call it today. He had saved the life of his friend who took care of him because of that.

The movie began rather humorously, with the two vying in their macho ways for first turn at seeing their former nurse. While the third existed on the periphery. Eventually, we were treated to a lesson. Wars are stupid. Wars are not what people want. Wars create chasms that are difficult but not impossible to bridge. Wars permanently damage some lives forever. The group grew to include a woman who had come to visit the grave of her brother, who turned out to have been a German soldier, which they only learned after growing to like her a lot.

Together these people formed a bond, the French nurse turned prostitute, the three elderly men, the German woman, and oddly enough the daughter and son-in-law of the Yankee. I wondered at the reason for their presence in the plot, until it was slowly revealed that the daughter was self-centered and, as she admitted, mean spirited. She had a lesson to learn as well.

It dawns on me while writing this that I too learned a lesson from this movie. Not only did I learn that people can rise above prejudice and mindset when forming friendships under difficult circumstances, and it is ill advised to discount mean spirited people before giving them a chance to reform, if that's the right word.

My final thought: One of the most over stated and untrue phrases tossed about is, people don't change. Everyone changes. If we open our hearts and minds we change due to our life experiences. True there are people who refuse to change for various reasons, but they are few.

For what they are worth, these are my thoughts on a record-setting cold and icy March day. Worse, when I went back to Netflix to get the title of the movie, I could not find it. Having rated it and taken it off my list, it disappeared into the miasma of movies I've rated. Can't they put those ratings in date order? Ugh. I almost removed this blog after realizing I couldn't pass on the title of the movie, but the message remains with or without it.

I find myself more and more engrossed by the evils of war, of sending young men off to battle, of the entire idea of killing our fellow man. Hopefully, I can move on to more pleasant subjects soon. That sexy, dark and gritty tag needs to move from dark to sexy or gritty for a while.

What does war do to people? Read Once There Were Sad Songs, available as a E-book or print on Amazon and The Wild Rose Press.

“THE LEAST OF THESE THRIFT SHOP”

The old Assembly of God Church thrift store has been renamed “The Least of These Thrift Shop” and is now located in the old candle factory on Highway 71. The hours are Monday thru Saturday 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

The store is trying to expand its assortment of goods into categories such as , sporting goods section, tool section, etc. Check with the ladies at the store to see what other sections they are planning. If you have no use for it and it's in working condition consider donating it so someone else can use it.

Climbing the Family Tree

By Jo Kyle

You may have relatives that do not use the computer and live too far away to make a visit to interview them inconvenient. That means resulting to "snail mail" as it is called now. This is also true when requesting copies of documents such as birth certificates, death certificates military records and other legal documents from court houses, the National Archive and other various repositories. You may be able to download forms for some of the information you are seeking.

When writing to relatives be precise in you are requesting. For instance if you send a letter such as: "Dear Aunt Sadie, Please send me all you know about our family." You may never get a reply, whereas if your letter starts out "Dear Aunt Sadie, I have recently become interested in our family history and I have a few questions that you might be able to answer for me." Then ask them a "few" questions to build a rapport. Always enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope and offer to pay for any copies of documents they may send. You may even want to call her/him and see if she/he is willing to participate.

There are two types of information, Primary and Secondary. Primary information is firsthand knowledge of an event. One example: if you are a witness to an event, a birth, an accident, a signature on a legal document, etc. it would be considered Primary information. If you tell someone about it and they pass the information along, it becomes Secondary information and less reliable than the Primary information. If you've always heard you were related to Jesse James, that would be Secondary information unless you can prove it, possibly by a family tree with all the sources documented.

That is why I stress documenting your information. If it came from Aunt Sadie, find out where she found the information be it a birth or proving a will or establishing a land point for a deed. Was she present when he was born, did she sign as a witness to a will, or did she help drive the stake when the land was surveyed. If not who gave her the information. I'm sure you understand what I mean.

For instance on the census, did your ancestor give the information himself or was he gone and the neighbor gave the information. Many times a nickname is given rather than the given name. They may have guessed at the age. I will go into more on the various census years next month.

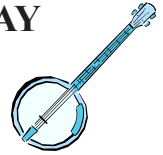

Why pay money to have your family tree traced; go into politics and your opponents will do it for you. ~Author unknown~

Saints of Christ Fellowship

Pastor, Jim Kugel

Come and worship our precious Lord Jesus with us on Sunday Mornings at 1045. We are small but mighty.

We have dinner the first Sunday of every month (that would be an excellent time to visit).

Right now we have only one service but that is subject to change.

Jesus is the head of the Church and Pastor Jim Kugel is next. He preaches from the Bible from Genesis to Revelations,

He is not a “feel-good” preacher. He tells the truth and preaches the hard stuff as well as the good stuff.

We need people that want to learn about Jesus.

All are welcome, come as you are.

God's Boxes

I have in my hand two boxes which God gave me to hold .
He said, “Put all your sorrows in the black box and all your joys in the gold box”.

I heeded His words, and in the boxes both my joys and sorrows I stored. But though the gold became heavier each day, the black was as light as before.

With curiosity, I opened the black. I wanted to find out why. And I saw, in the base of the box, a hole which my sorrows had fallen out.

I showed the hole to God, and mused aloud,
“I wonder where my sorrows could be”.
He smiled a gentle smile at me.
“My child, they’re all here with me.”

I asked, “God, why give the boxes,
Why the gold, and black with the hole?”
“My child, the gold is for you to count your blessings,
The black is for you to let go.”

We should consider all of our friends a blessing
Let your friends know you are thinking of them
And that they are a joy in your life

A ball is a circle, No beginning, no end.
It keeps us together Like our Circle of Friends.
But the treasure inside for you to see
Is the treasure of friendship you’ve granted to me.

I Saw Jesus

I saw Jesus last week ...

He was wearing blue jeans and an old shirt.

He was up at the church building.

He was alone and working hard.

For a minute He looked a little like one of our members,

But it was Jesus, I could tell by His smile.

I saw Jesus last Sunday.

He was teaching a Bible class.

He didn't talk real loud or use long words.

But you could tell He believed what he said.

For just a minute He looked like my Sunday School teacher.

I saw Jesus yesterday.

He was at the hospital visiting a friend who was sick.

They prayed together quietly.

For a minute He looked like Brother Jones.

But it was Jesus, I could tell by the tears in His eyes.

I saw Jesus this morning.

He was in my kitchen making my breakfast and fixing me a special lunch

For a minute He looked like my Mom.

But it was Jesus, I could feel the love from His heart.

I see Jesus everywhere.

Taking food to the sick. Welcoming others to His home.

Being friendly to a newcomer and for just a minute I think He's somebody I know.

But it's always Jesus, I can tell by the way He serves.

May someone see Jesus in you today!

These are from-mail. Author unknown.
