$1000.00 Reward Offered

In March two R-22 Air Conditioning condenser units were stolen from behind the Winslow Library. These units supplied the library and the other rooms in the building with air conditioning. In addition several other units on the campus were vandalized and left in an unusable condition.

A reward of $1000.00 is being offered for the apprehension and conviction of the parties responsible. Please call or come by Winslow City Hall with any information you have regarding this theft and vandalism.

What's Going On In The City Park?

By Ken Stout

You may be wondering what is going on along the stream on the east edge of the city park, also known as "Peek's Park" (after Peek Avenue bordering the south edge).

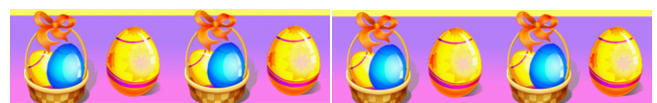

The work being done is for erosion control on the west bank of the stream, which has been eroding rapidly over the years. You may have noticed the handsome stone-work recently accomplished to hold the bank around the culvert just below the stone planters. The idea was initiated by Mayor Jarnagan and carried out by our city workers.

To remedy the bigger problem, representatives of the WCDC, as well as Mayor Randy Jarnagan, arranged to meet in early November 2013 with John Pennington and Courtney Thomas of the Beaver Watershed Alliance for advice and assistance. The Alliance has given Winslow 80 free plants to place along the stream in order to anchor the bank. These are shrubs, as well as a few second-story trees.

Starting this Saturday and Sunday, volunteers will be using a tractor and truck to clear the Bermuda grass off a swath along the stream measuring about 15 by 250 feet, after which they will be hand-picking of the grass and weeds from the soil. Next week, soil and mulch will be brought in for volunteers to spread there in order to help reduce weeds in the future.

Anyone wishing to volunteer is invited anytime after recycling (noon) on Saturday, April 5, continuing Sunday and into next week.

Winslow Beautification Project

By Donna Phipps Stout

It's planting time in Winslow! The Winslow Beautification Project, underwritten by the city, needs some folks who enjoy gardening and would like to volunteer once a week (time can be determined later) to work on the Winslow public gardens. This will involve planting, weeding, cleaning and preparing beds, and sharing ideas. We would love to have any Master Gardeners in the area join us, although no training or experience is necessary.

If interested, come to the Mercantile at 10:30 am this Saturday (April 19) or call Donna Phipps Stout (herself a Master Gardener) at 634-5791, or email her at dphippstout@centurytel.net, and we will set up a weekly work schedule.

The Winslow public gardens include the following: the stone planters and new stream-side erosion-control plantings in Peek's Park (across the tracks from City Hall); the barrels on the sidewalk along City Hall, Winslow Museum, and Mercantile; the oak tree planter across from City Hall; the Winslow Welcome rock at the highway; and the Larry Jaranagan Memorial stone planter in the ball park.

Got Ideas to Improve Winslow?

The Winslow Community Development Council needs interested people to attend the meetings, which are the second Tuesday in every month. The WCDC was formed years ago to raise money to help improve the quality of life in Winslow. We are actively seeking people who have ideas--and who see needs not being met--to come and brainstorm with us!

The next meeting is at 7 PM on April 8th at the Winslow School, during which we will have the election for new officers, for which any Winslow resident is qualified to run. Come and participate!

Ideas which have been discussed recently include securing a grant for an exercise trail (funded through a Trails for Life state grant) around the ball field park; discussing the fate of the Winslow School campus; and starting a community food co-op.

The majority of money the WCDC raised in the last three years has come from the Annual Winslow Run, which attracts participants from across the region and nation, and raises thousands of dollars that are distributed by vote of the council, in consultation with folks who attend the monthly meetings.

Organizations which have benefitted include Community Meals, Winslow Library, Winslow Museum, Fire Department, Ozark Folkways, Community Emergency Fund, and 4-H.

Also, the WCDC has funded the new Winslow kiosk in Peek's Park, and serger and sewing machines for the Olive Loom group (a Winslow cottage industry which sews and sells its products). And a few of the projects in which WCDC has organized are the Rain Barrel Workshop last year and the new Rain Garden Project at the ball field pavillion, which is funded through a federal, state, and local partnership, and will be installed with the help of the 4-H this month. Come join us on April 8th!

PENSE REUNION

We are making plans for our Big Pense Reunion, that we have each 5 years. This year we will have it July 19 2014

Same place : Lake Ft. Smith Pavilion. Looking for volunteers! Anyone interested or need more information get in touch with:

Thank you for your cooperation.

“Comedy Corner”

By David Gesn ©2014

It is soon that I shall attempt the one thing I have never attempted, but had studied upon at one given interval, - to become a hermit. Because of certain issues concerning a land arrangement, I had little time to find another dwelling of suitability. It's not something that I actually look forward to, but I may actually get to finish a painting I began a good three and a half months ago! It is for a certain museum I and others find extremely interesting. Because of my medical problems my family finds all this very disturbing to say the least. Hallelujah!

Upon returning home from military service in 1971, I had a tad of paranoia, the “hermit thing” had crossed my mind, but I got married instead, and shortly thereafter bought my first home. I came upon the notion, once again, in the late 80's, but the Veteran's Administration talked me out of it, so I bought another home, some cattle, horses and a tad of land. I thought being a cowboy might be more exciting than being a hermit! Working the oilfield at the same time proved to be more than I could keep up with, and then as luck would have it, I had my first bout with the “big C”- cancer. After my third bout with it, I just about gave up completely. I felt inadequate and cursed. It took me a long time to realize I was blessed. My dad passed away with cancer at the age of 57, still a young man that had never been sick in his past years. We never know for sure of anything, except all of us will make that trip one day! Recently I had asked the Good Lord for a few things prior to my final moment of existence. To have someone build me a structure of simple means, build up the inside myself, and maybe a tad outside, and “He” allowed it. To paint one more painting – I may actually finish it! To play the organ or keyboard for someone other than myself – which “He” did allow and to live in a comfortable setting with my best friend, Ol' Runnin' Dog. The cabin wasn't too bad, but I had something else in mind – it may still happen. Hallelujah!

Long ago, so it seems, I fell into a habitat of richness unlike anything I could have ever imagined. One day, you may read about it. Because of it, I possibly could have been a very wealthy man. For a reason that would make no sense to most people, I walked away from it. There is an explanation why I did so leave it intact, and that reasoning itself is written on the back of my stone placed upon my final resting spot not far away. Since it is written in the French language on purpose, ‘one’ may have to get on the Internet for its translation. Hallelujah! The people that truly know me, will understand as they read about “The Cavern”/

Well, soon I will depart, but may be close by. Winslow is where my heart is and after all I shouldn't be a “suspicious person” on 500,000 acres of National Forest! It still may be awhile yet. I'm not convinced I would make a good hermit, and I'm not sure how Ol' Runnin' Bear would take it. Well, it is a thought –Hallelujah!

Velda's Words

By Velda Brotherton

Don't forget to come see me at Springfest in downtown Fayetteville on Dickson Street, Saturday, April 19th. I'll be there with lots of other writers ready to sign copies of our current books. See you there.

Have been spending a lot of time editing books that have been around here awhile. Now that publishing is picking up so much, I can get them all published, so am very busy catching up. A new publisher is looking at three of my books seriously. So you can see a re-release of Arkansas Meals and Memories with updated cover and spiral binding this year sometime. In relation to that, I've been asked to sit on a panel discussing Ozark foods at the Fayetteville Public Library May 10. Mark your calendar if you're interested. More later so watch my FB page.

A little horror novel I've worked on in my spare time is going to them as well. Just finished my edits, so will send it on over to get theirs. Again, watch the FB page for A Savage Grace, set in Arkansas.

The third one is Beyond the Moon, and I think I wrote some about it in past newsletters. In 1983 a Vietnam veteran comes home from being in prison camps in Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam for 9 years. Unable to adjust to a normal life, he is hospitalized and begins to show an interest in art. Katherine teaches art and takes him on as a student. This is a love story.

As you can see none of these are romances, but I'm still writing those, and have one coming out this year called Rowena's Hellion, the second in the Victorian Series. Also just finished the second in the new A Twist of Poe mystery series featuring Cherokee lawman Dallas Starr and investigative reporter Jessie West. It's called The Tell Tale Stone and hope it gets out this year as well. Don't forget my two current books, Once There Were Sad Songs and The Purlined Skull, both available through Amazon as e books and print.

If this is repetitive of my last article, I apologize. Keep up with me on my Facebook Page and my Blog on Word Press. They are easy to find.

It is simple, festive and fun! Join us on Saturday, April 12 from 10:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.

Kathy Sparks (who created the yarn art for our last Fiber Fest) will lead us.

But in order to do this in one day we need YOU to contribute your flat yarn art! Old pieces, new pieces - Crocheted, knitted and/or woven ... All colors, styles, shapes and motifs are welcome!

WHAT TO BRING ON THE DAY OF THE EVENT:

- Your yarn art pieces
- A yarn needle (or size F – H crochet hook) and small craft scissors
- Your bag lunch – or take a lunch break down the road at ‘Grandma’s’ – whichever you prefer!

PREPARATION: Let’s nudge spring along by preparing for this yarn storming event!! Feel free to create and bring any knitted, woven or crocheted pieces. The maximum size of your piece(s) should measure no more than 4 feet by 40 inches. Any smaller sized pieces are great to fill in the holes and decorate over the surface of the bigger pieces.

Remember that the theme is “spring!” So, if you want to buy new yarn to create a piece please make it a light and bright spring-y color. Or, recycle your old yarn projects that you no longer want!

PLEASE NOTE:

You will NOT get your pieces back after they are hung so please prepare to leave them as a contribution to this ‘YARN ART BY CHANCE’ event.

Basket Classes Coming Up In April!

Hi everyone,

I hope everyone is as happy as I am to finally see some warmer days.
Spring is on the way.

For those who are interested we have a couple of basket weaving days at Ozark Folkways coming up in early April.

The first is Saturday, April 5
and Friday, April 11

For both we will start at 10 am and work until we finish.
It will be Choose Your Basket.

Cost will be $15.00 plus the cost of the kit you choose.

If you know what you would like to work on, let me know so I can be sure and have everything on hand. Some recent additions are the Pie basket, the Darning basket with Cherokee wheels, and the Casserole Carrier.

Tools: Bring what tools you have on hand. There will be extras to share where needed.

Craft Scissors
Tape Measure
Small flathead screwdriver
Water Basin
Clothespins
Pencil
Old towel
Sack lunch

As always class size is limited so be sure to reserve you space as soon as possible

E-Mail from God

Hi, As you got up this morning, I watched you and hoped you would talk to me, even if it was just a few words, asking my opinion or thanking me for something good that happened in your life yesterday – but, I noticed that you were too busy trying to find the right outfit to put on and wear to work.

I waited again. When you ran around the house getting ready I knew there would be a few minutes for you to stop and say hello, but you were too busy. At one point you had to wait 15 minutes with nothing to do except sit in a chair. Then I saw you spring to your feet. I thought you wanted to talk to me, but you ran to the phone and called a friend to get the latest gossip.

I watched as you went to work and I waited patiently all day long. With all your activities, I guess you were too busy to say anything to me. I noticed that before lunch you looked around, maybe you felt embarrassed to talk to me that is why you didn’t bow your head. You glanced three or four tables over and noticed some of your friends talking to me briefly before they ate, but you didn’t. That’s okay. There is still more time left, and I have hope that you will talk to me, but you went home and it seems as if you had lots of things to do.

After a few of them were done, you turned on the TV. I don’t know if you like TV or not, just about anything goes there and you spent a lot of time each day in front of it, not thinking about anything, just enjoying the show. I waited patiently again as you watched the TV and ate you meal, but again, you didn’t talk to me.

Bedtime I guess you felt too tired. After you said goodnight to your family, you plopped into bed and fell asleep in no time. That’s okay because you may not realize that I am ALWAYS there for you. I’ve got more patience than you’ll ever know. I even want to teach you how to be patient with others as well.

I love you so much that I wait every day for a nod, prayer, or thought or a thankful part of your heart. It is hard to have a one-sided conversation.

Well, you are getting up again and once again, I will wait with nothing but love for you and hoping that today you will give me some time.

Have a nice day!

Your Friend,
GOD
