“Comedy Corner”

By David Gesn (c) 2013

As the moonlight shares its brilliance upon the waters, the night grows old, and the rising of the sun is near. Easter Sunday is upon us - adequate deliverance from sympathetic woes of the past. I listen to “His Voice” in the silence of the moment.

Rays of perfection shine upon mankind, a song or two upon our lips. Life enjoyed by the wise amongst us. Surviving a war of insanity, today we balance out the interruptions of life by the Will of God. “Listen -- Listen...”

Will we see farther down the path we choose, than He? Shall wisdom appear without Him? Today, hope shines upon us! Out of love shall He give us the greatness we seek. “Whisper -- Whisper my name...”

Solemn moments, silken thoughts, virtue has not eluded us. What we allow, shall we grasp. Revere the time He shares. This very day, the monotony of sadness shall be broken. “But for the moment, have you heard me?”

“Happy Easter”

COLORS

By Richard Pearce (c) 10-27-2006

Long liquid legends steal the dawn,
The sun-sworn brown and down upon lost sunlight.
Theft-bereft as death defies old logic;
Sonnet-swimming days alone,
Upon the brittle bones of fate’s decay;
Now path-worn rivulets roar like rivers lost,
The day-torn clouds of every old illusion,
Steal thunder from old lightning,
To lead a bleed of weathered foresight reckoned;
Lamp-pool auras flicker in old doubt,
The shout and freezing drizzle,
Damp and damming style-painted portraits
Spinning color infinite and blind...

TIDE

By Richard Pearce (c) 9-5-2009

Uncovered flesh recedes like fleeing tides
That sink the sacred sights where all flesh hides;
Exposing self within this boiling brine
Aloft like seagulls with their soaring crime.
We settle when our chairs are cold neglect,
And read the books that others would select,
And use our knowledge like a hammered nail,
Until the anchor’s lifted and we sail;
To chart the unknown depths of all we fear,
And find, before we sink, someone to steer..

Just a Thought

By Jerry Bromley

Old age is changing and we are likely to live alone, drive a car or truck until our 80's, and volunteer at the local library. Thirty three million Americans are now 65 or older. We can already see the shift in television commercials from sports equipment to medication and funeral plans. A blessing of these years is that we can create new ideas and activities and friends.

Now back to the library where we can volunteer and take a friend along to volunteer at the used book store to talk, shelve and sell books. Volunteer even once a month and help support your library. If you wish to host a reception for the community and provide punch and cookies that would be great or Friends of the Library would provide the punch and cookies. Meet new people, broaden your horizon, find a new author to read, even if you don't read there are movies and books on cassette or CD for sale at great prices.

Winslow 4-H Club News

On February 16, seven members of the Winslow 4-H Club went to the Pauline Whitaker Equine Center in Fayetteville to compete in a Dairy Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau. We also competed in indoor activities like entomology, forestry, seeds and weeds, ornamental horticulture, and wildlife identification. During the afternoon session, there were outdoor activities like bicycle safety, bait casting, gun safety and BB gun shooting, game fish ID, and reel into sport fishing.

The club brought home a combined 37 ribbons for the activities. Gauge Jorgenson won both the forestry and ornamental horticulture contests, which qualify him for the district competition in June. He also won the dairy competition in the main dish category for Three Cheese Italian Herb Stromboli.

We are proud of all the members who competed. They made Winslow Proud!

If you are between the ages of 5 and 18, and love to learn new things, 4-H is the club for you. We meet at the fire station the first Monday of every month at 4:15 PM. This month, we will make functional birdhouses that members can enter in the fair in August.

If you haven't registered for the Northwest Arkansas Writers Free Conference scheduled for March 9, check it out. Go to <http://www.nwawriters.org> for information on the conference, then email vebrotherton@gmail.com to register. This is an all day writing event in it's 8th year. See you there.

Wilda's Outlaw came out in print Feb. 13, so if you don't have an e-reader, you can now buy the book. It's on Velda Brotherton's page on Amazon. Easy to find and read the first chapter there. This is the first in a series The Victorians about the folks who settled Victoria, Kansas in 1879. Oh, and it's a romance too, so it pleases historians and romantics at the same time.

The Northwest Arkansas Writers Workshop

The Northwest Arkansas Writers Workshop is a group of people who enjoy writing for fun and profit. Our members come from many different walks of life and present a varied set of views on the world and everything in it.

This variety is evidenced by the stories that are shared within the workshops themselves. We are delighted by the characters we meet, as we hear them come to life.

If you are working on a piece of fiction or non-fiction, take a look at the rest of this site or drop by a meeting and see if honest critique is what you need. Write on!

WHERE IS ARKANSAS?

By Mack Innis <mosbymack@cox.net>

It used to be my grandma's house, south of Winslow up on the highway on McClendon Hill. (A hundred yards south of Coil Cemetery road on the west side of the road.) She was Emma Innis. Uncle John lived there too. I first went there in 1946 and at 6 months old I have no recollection of that visit. All the rest of the visits, as a kid, I remember well. We could be at Aunt Beth's (Beth Innis Rogers) in Fayetteville and I would urge my Dad for us to go on down to "Arkansas." That was Grandmas house. An outhouse, chickens loose in the yard and a wall phone with a crank on the side are part of my memories. Grandpa, John Lee Innis, had died the year before I was born so I never knew him. My Dad, Hal Innis, was born up there on the mountain in 1912 and we visited often when I was a youngster. Not nearly often enough for me! But that house was "Arkansas".

Arkansas is still there after being built in 1927. It now has running water, electricity and indoor plumbing. I haven't been in it since 1969. My new wife and I lived there through the summer of 1969. I worked for the A.E.C. out at SEFOR and then at U. of A. on its police force. Economic reasons forced us to move on to make a good living.

In subsequent years I've learned that Arkansas is ALL over the area!

Not just Grandma's old house. I visited Devil's Den, The Falls, Lake Shepard Springs, White Rock, and, of course Burns-Gables many times over the 50's and 60's. Those are all Arkansas too!

Stayed at Vista Courts many times in the 70's and 80's. We used to ride the little train around the lake at Mt. Gaylor way back and always climbed the tower over at the Bellis place for a dime. It still which still stands today.

I remember the old train station in downtown Winslow with its "whites" and "colored" designated areas. One time in the 50's we called Grandma from Kansas late on a Sunday morning and when my Dad asked for The Innis place the Winslow operator said, "Oh Emma wouldn't be back from church yet."

She was a founder of The Winslow Methodist Church in 1902 by the way.

Have you seen "Alligator Rock" down off Carter Road? How about "Robinson's Cave" down in Pense Holler, or "the deer lick" in the same holler? I remember Schaberg with buildings and houses in ruins.

My Great Grandpa Preston McClendon homesteaded many acres in the Winslow and Schaberg areas in the 1800's. Climbing south from Winslow on the highway that's McClendon Hill when you level off at the top. His place was on the east side where the later Westerner Motel was.

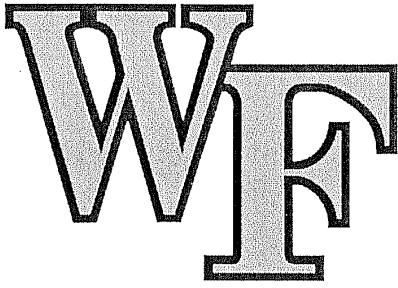

So, for almost 67 years I've been an "almost" Winslow Squirrel and hope to settle there in 2013. I'll end up, with relatives in Coil Cemetery someday, hopefully not for quite a while! That's right, C-O-I-L cemetery-- spelled right-unlike the road signs!

The first Innis in Winslow was my Grandfather John L. Innis who came as an infant from Iowa in 1876. The last one still there was his son, my uncle, John Innis who died in 1980 and they are both in Coil Cemetery. I aim to be the next Innis there.

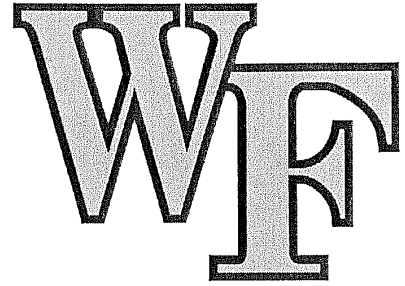

Hope to see you soon and hope that these old memories bring back some smiles to the older locals.

Your Life Is A Result Of The Choices You Make

Sometimes people make silly choices. They are fueled by jealousy, rage, previous unresolved issues, and hatred... but you still have the choice to choose how it goes at every moment, of every day, of your life.

If you don't like how your life is turning out... start making better choices.

We're CRAZY around here! Join us, won't you?

We are forming a new group to help support Ozark Folkways and we're simply calling it: Friends of Folkways.

The Pastor's Son

Every Sunday afternoon, after the morning service at the church, the Pastor and his eleven year old son would go out into their town and hand out Gospel Tracts.

This particular Sunday afternoon, as it came time for the Pastor and his son to go to the streets with their tracts, it was very cold outside, as well as pouring rain.

The boy bundled up in his warmest and driest clothes and said, 'OK, dad, I'm ready.'

His Pastor dad asked, 'Ready for what?'

'Dad, it's time we gather our tracts together and go out.'

Dad responds, 'Son, it's very cold outside and it's pouring rain.'

The boy gives his dad a surprised look, asking, 'But Dad, aren't people still going to Hell, even though it's raining?'

Dad answers, 'Son, I am not going out in this weather.'

Despondently, the boy asks, 'Dad, can I go? Please?'

His father hesitated for a moment then said, 'Son, you can go. Here are the tracts, be careful son..'

'Thanks Dad!'

And with that, he was off and out into the rain.. This eleven year old boy walked the streets of the town going door to door and handing everybody he met in the street a Gospel Tract .

After two hours of walking in the rain, he was soaking, bone-chilled wet and down to his VERY LAST TRACT. He stopped on a corner and looked for someone to hand a tract to, but the streets were totally deserted.

Then he turned toward the first home he saw and started up the sidewalk to the front door and rang the doorbell. He rang the bell, but nobody answered.

He rang it again and again, but still no one answered. He waited but still no answer.

Finally, this eleven year old trooper turned to leave, but something stopped him.

Again, he turned to the door and rang the bell and knocked loudly on the door with his fist. He waited, something holding him there on the front porch!

He rang again and this time the door slowly opened.

Standing in the doorway was a very sad-looking elderly lady. She softly asked, 'What can I do for you, son?' With radiant eyes and a smile that lit up her world, this little boy said, 'Ma'am, I'm sorry if I disturbed you, but I just want to tell you that * JESUS REALLY DOES LOVE YOU * and I came to give you my very last Gospel Tract which will tell you all about JESUS and His great LOVE.'

With that, he handed her his last tract and turned to leave.

She called to him as he departed. 'Thank you, son! And God Bless You!'

Well, the following Sunday morning in church Pastor Dad was in the pulpit. As the service began, he asked, 'Does anybody have testimony or want to say anything?'

Slowly, in the back row of the church, an elderly lady stood to her feet.

As she began to speak, a look of glorious radiance came from her face, 'No one in this church knows me. I've never been here before. You see, before last Sunday I was not a Christian. My husband passed on some time ago, leaving me totally alone in this world. Last Sunday, being a particularly cold and rainy day, it was even more so in my heart that I came to the end of the line where I no longer had any hope or will to live.

So I took a rope and a chair and ascended the stairway into the attic of my home. I fastened the rope securely to a rafter in the roof, then stood on the chair and fastened the other end of the rope around my neck. Standing on that chair, so lonely and broken-hearted I was about to leap off, when suddenly the loud ringing of my doorbell downstairs startled me. I thought, 'I'll wait a minute, and whoever it is will go away.'

I waited and waited, but the ringing doorbell seemed to get louder and more insistent, and then the person ringing also started knocking loudly...

I thought to myself again, 'Who on earth could this be? Nobody ever rings my bell or comes to see me.' I loosened the rope from my neck and started for the front door, all the while the bell rang louder and louder.

When I opened the door and looked I could hardly believe my eyes, for there on my front porch was the most radiant and angelic little boy I had ever seen in my life. His SMILE, oh, I could never describe it to you!

The words that came from his mouth caused my heart that had long been dead, TO LEAP TO LIFE as he exclaimed with a cherub-like voice, 'Ma'am, I just came to tell you that JESUS REALLY DOES LOVE YOU .' Then he gave me this Gospel Tract that I now hold in my hand..

As the little angel disappeared back out into the cold and rain, I closed my door and read slowly every word of this Gospel Tract. Then I went up to my attic to get my rope and chair. I wouldn't be needing them anymore.

You see-- I am now a Happy Child of the KING. Since the address of your church was on the back of this Gospel Tract, I have come here to personally say THANK YOU to God's little angel who came just in the nick of time and by so doing, spared my soul from an eternity in hell..'

There was not a dry eye in the church. And as shouts of praise and honor to THE KING resounded off the very rafters of the building, Pastor Dad descended from the pulpit to the front pew where the little angel was seated....

He took his son in his arms and sobbed uncontrollably.

Probably no church has had a more glorious moment, and probably this universe has never seen a Papa that was more filled with love & honor for his son.... Except for One.

Blessed are your eyes for reading this message.

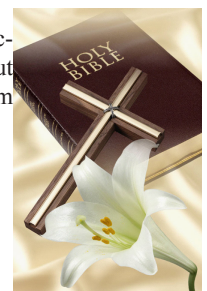

Don't let this message die, read it again and pass it to others. Heaven is for His people!

Please share this wonderful message... If you love JESUS, Spread His word, and share His goodness and faithfulness.

Matthew 10:32 says:

'Whoever acknowledges Me before men, I will acknowledge him before My Father in heaven. But whoever disowns Me before men, I will disown him before My Father in heaven '
